

Truman Threatened With Two Political Defeats In Senate

Washington, Oct. 10 (P)—The Senate this week may hand President Truman a defeat on one warm political issue, with the outcome doubtful in an another.

Unless there is an unexpected change in sentiment, the Senate seems likely to slap down the president's reappointment of Leland Olds to a third term on the federal power commission.

The results are in doubt in a back-stage fight over the president's demand that Congress broaden the base and raise the quota for admission of displaced persons from Europe.

Otherwise unrelated, these two issues are expected to play a part in next year's struggle between the Republicans and Democrats for control of Congress.

Mr. Truman used the DP issue in last year's campaign, calling the law passed by the Republican 80th Congress "anti-semitic and anti-Catholic." If action on its revision is blocked by the Democratic 81st, Republicans may have something to say about that.

At the situation stands, Mr. Truman's best hope for action on the DP measure lies in an effort by administration senators and some Republicans to force it out of the Senate judiciary committee over the opposition of Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.).

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) plans such an attempt this week. If it succeeds, in McCarran's absence, the House-approved bill to raise the admission quota from 205,000 in two years to 339,000 in three years will be brought before the Senate.

President Truman's attempt to make support of Olds a matter of party regularity seemed to have rebounded. Mr. Truman said the big corporations were after Olds. Oil and gas state senators opposed him because he wants the power commission to regulate natural gas. Other talked of his "radical" swing.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) fore into the president about his demand for party support of the appointee. Other Democrats grumbled privately that the president had no business butting into their realm of confirming or rejecting his nominees.

Channel Swim Record Broken

California Sea Lion Does It In 5 Hours

Dover, Eng., Oct. 10 (P)—Pierre Cliton, a California sea lion with a sense of humor, has shown the human race that it still has a lot to learn about swimming.

In the most casual sort of way Pierre swam the English channel yesterday in just over five hours. That is approximately half the best time ever set by a human.

Pierre—spurred on by snacks of herring—made his bid for fame and radio, television and movie contracts on just about the worst possible day for a channel swim. The crossing was so rough that half the 20 news correspondents and photographers who went along in two motorboats became very seasick.

The correspondents themselves established some sort of record for stunts of this sort. Many of them made the crossing without any pants. Because the surf was so heavy they had taken off their trousers and waded out to the boats. Then water splashed into the boats and made the garments too wet to wear.

Pierre's swim was part of a stunt for "Truth or Consequences," radio program familiar to listeners in the United States. Burt Kennedy, who missed a question in a quiz, was required to assist in managing the venture.

Kennedy, a free lance writer, plans to return to Hollywood to-day by plane. The radio program will reward him with a dollar for every minute Pierre clipped from the channel record. This will come to about $360.

Flood Waters Recede In Houston Bayous; Families Return Home

Houston, Tex., Oct. 10 (P)—Houston's flooded bayous were running within banks today and many persons who fled floodwaters Friday and Saturday already had returned home.

Terrific rains had sent bayous flooding over a large area. But the water had receded in all but two sections yesterday—Southern in addition and Mount Houston. In Mount Houston, in northeast Houston, it still stood four feet deep in some homes.

County officials warned all residents who had returned to their homes to boil water before drinking.

No rain fell yesterday.

Week End Turns Hot In Southern Michigan

Detroit, Oct. 10 (P)—A heat wave settled over southern Michigan during the weekend and the mercury shot up to a new record in Detroit.

The Detroit reading of 86 degrees Sunday edged out the 85-degree mark set for Oct. 9 in 1939. The weather bureau predicted that continuing high temperatures would break another record today.

While southern areas were sweltering, the north had some cold areas. Temperatures as low as 53 were recorded Sunday.

HIS JOB IN DOUBT—A Senate showdown vote is expected soon on the reappointment of Leland Olds, above, to the Federal Power Commission. Olds' nomination was rejected 10 to 2 by the Senate Commerce Committee, despite a personal appeal by President Truman for approval.

Tight Election Held In Norway

Labor Party Worried; Communism Slumps

Oslo, Norway, Oct. 10 (P)—Labor's one-seat majority in the Storting (parliament) is at stake today in Norway's nip-and-tuck national elections, the first since 1945.

Veteran political observers thought growing irritation at tight rationing and strict state planning might wipe out labor Prime Minister Einar Gerhardsen's slender control in the 150-member parliament.

But the only sure bet seemed to be that the Communists would drop some of the 11 Storting seats they have held for four years. Communism has dropped in popularity since Norway joined the Marshall plan and Atlantic pact, bringing Russian rumors of dissatisfaction across the Northern Norwegian-Soviet frontier.

Gerhardsen's laborites held 76 seats in the last parliament, against a total of 74 for the combined opposition ranging from Conservatives to Communists.

The labor party, committed to wide state planning and public ownership of certain industries, is still expected to lead the government even if it drops its absolute majority in parliament. This is because of sharp splits among opposition parties.

The polls close at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. EST) but first results are not expected until Tuesday afternoon, with final returns sometime Tuesday night.

Jail Escape Artist Held As Cop Killer With Shotgun Guard

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 10 (P)—Earl Bircham, accused cop killer and jail escape artist, must turn magician if he gets out of his present quarters.

Bircham, given top-rank standing among the nation's public enemies, made a spectacular escape attempt Saturday. Now he is in solitary confinement in Jefferson county jail and is being watched 24 hours a day by two patrolmen armed with shotguns.

Bircham, 45, saved his way out of his cell at the Jefferson county jail and confronted John Clifford, 50-year-old guard, with two guns carved from soap.

Clifford spotted the trick and wrestled with Bircham until help arrived. Bircham, who flew Kansas state prison at Lansing three times goes on trial tomorrow on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Louisville patrolman John Tennyson. He also is accused of wounding patrolman John Ross when the officers attempted to arrest him.

Arizona Airmen To Land With New Endurance Record

Yuma, Ariz., Oct. 10 (P)—Two Arizona fliers, planned to land their light plane today at 5:15 p. m. (EST) with a new world endurance record of 1,124 hours of continuous flying.

Bob Woodhouse and Woody Jorgewald decided last night to end the flight which began at 9:15 p. m. (EST) on Aug. 24. They broke the previous record of 1,008 hours last Wednesday.

Their decision to land came after the plane's right magnet burned out.

War-Sick China Celebrates Its Revolt Of 1911

Communists Lose In Austrian Election

(By The Associated Press)
War-sick China celebrated today the anniversary of its 1911 revolt against the Imperial Manchus with dragon dances and firecrackers. Across the world, in France, the slipping Nationalist government suffered another setback.

The entire staff of the Nationalist Chinese embassy and consulate general in Paris forsook the government cause and declared itself in favor of Mao Tze-Tung's new Communist regime set up in Peiping last week.

The only members who did not desert were the newly-named Charge D'Affaires, Tuan Mao-Lan and Ambassador Tsien Tai, who is ill.

While Communism was demonstrating in China that nothing succeeds like success, the Democracies scored a reassuring victory in Europe. The anti-Red Austrian government of Chancellor Leopold Figl emerged from weekend parliamentary elections still securely in power.

His coalition, composed of the Socialists and the Conservative People's Party, held its position as Austria's largest party, winning 144 seats in the 165-member lower House. Of these, Figl's People's Party took 77. The Communists upped their four places to five.

Outpost of Democracy
Chancellor Figl, surveying the results, declared the election gave "clear and unmistakable proof that Austria is an outpost of the Western Democratic World."

The Chinese Embassy's "Little Revolution" was not the only bit of pro-Communist activity in leaderless France.

Communist strikes broke out in the northern coal fields in what seemed to be a political maneuver, timed to coincide with Socialist Jules Moch's attempts to line up elements which could form a new French cabinet.

Moch has been named by ailing President Vincent Auriol to sound out middle-of-the-road sentiment on the cabinet subject. If it goes in his favor, he undoubtedly would be named to form a new government to replace that of resigned Premier Henri Queuille.

Pending formation of the cabinet, Labor has decided to hold off any widespread strike action.

Air Force Ready To Give Support To Army And Navy

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
Associated Press Aviation Writer
Eglin Air Base, Fla., Oct. 10 (P)—Maj. Gen. Robert M. Lee said today the air force is ready to give close support to the army and navy whenever called.

Lee is commander of the tactical air command, which would do the job. He told newsmen assembled for a demonstration of methods and equipment in a mythical war, "we believe we have the best equipment available for the support job."

A quick show of what the air force, army and navy can do in a combined operation was set up for the benefit of some 3,000 young officers and observers as part of an air indoctrination course.

The story is written around Alpha—the three American services—coming to the aid of Beta, a small nation in whose remote areas Gamma, a hypothetical aggressor, has established bases. Unless something happens to the script, Alpha will knock the tar out of Gamma in a noisy but brief encounter tomorrow.

DRIVERLESS CAR CRASHES

Grand Rapids, Oct. 10 (P)—A driverless auto careened three blocks down steep Michigan street hill Sunday, attaining a speed estimated by police at 50 miles an hour, before crashing against a brick wall. Two sideswiped cars were damaged but nobody was injured.

Chances Boosted For Republican Margin In Senate

By JACK BELL
Washington, Oct. 10 (P)—Three extra Senate races, in New York, Connecticut and Idaho, have increased the mathematical chances for a 1950 swing in Senate control from the Democrats to the Republicans.

The death Saturday of Senator Miller D. (Idaho) is expected to bring early appointment of a Republican successor by GOP Governor C. A. Robins of Idaho. Former Senator Henry Dworshak and former Rep. Abe Goff are among those mentioned as possible appointees.

With this appointment, Republicans temporarily will close the

Freedom Brief For Sig Engel

Widow-Wooer Back In Chicago Jail

Chicago, Oct. 10 (P)—That silver-tongued lover-boy of 73 summers, Sigmond Engel, was back in the clink today after a brief foray into the world of free men.

Engel, the wooer of wealthy widows, was released from the Cook county jail Saturday. He had been enjoying the county's hospitality for over three months.

As his foot touched the pavement outside the jailhouse—his attorney sprung him with a $10,000 bond—waved Detective John Peterson.

Peterson stepped four warrants in Engel's face, and urged him to come to the town hall police station.

"Nuts" said Engel, as he journeyed to his new cell.

The new warrants against the rusting romeo included state and federal charges issued on complaint of Mrs. Jeanette Kubiak, of South Bend, Ind.

She says Engel got $5,000 of her money.

Other warrants were filed by Mrs. Corrine Perry Gordon, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Irene Grimes, San Francisco. They also complain of loss of money to Engel, who had boasted that he has swindled women of a cool million all over the world.

The mood of a canny woman with a built-in sense for rich matrons is under indictment on two charges of swindling Chicago women.

Hole In Shoe Saves Detroit Boy Caught On High Tension Wire

Detroit, Oct. 10 (P)—A hole worn in the sole of his shoe probably saved 11-year-old Leon Banks from electrocution when he touched a high tension wire last night, Detroit police reported.

The youngster's finger came in contact with the wire while he was climbing a tree near his home. And because his bare foot touched a branch where the shoe was worn through, the electricity made his body a conductor and held him fast.

Firemen removed the partly conscious boy from the tree 13 minutes later. Witnesses in the horrified crowd that watched the rescue reported sparks had flown from Leon's head and fingers.

The boy's finger, hopelessly burned, was amputated at Receiving hospital. Physicians said Leon also had a large blister on his foot.

Long Dispute Settled By AFL Carpenters

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10 (P)—Better labor peace in the construction industry was assured today with settlement of a long-standing jurisdictional dispute between two key American Federation of Labor unions.

An agreement climaxing several years of negotiations has been reached during sessions of the annual AFL convention here, it was learned.

The agreement contains a no strike pledge between the AFL carpenters and the AFL Laborers Union on handling of concrete forms.

This argument may be unknown to a great many people but has tied up millions of dollars of important construction work for months at a time, with strikes occurring frequently over the years.

The agreement between the carpenters and laborers unions is an important one in maintaining building industry peace and preventing serious labor trouble in many cities.

The two unions have agreed to split up the work connected with removing wooden forms used for pouring concrete.

Under the agreement, members of the carpenters union will remove the forms after the concrete hardens. The laborers union will have jurisdiction to move the lumber once it is taken down by the carpenters.

The laborers also are given jurisdiction to clean, oil and carry the lumber to the next place it is to be re-used as forms.

On forms which are too worn to be re-used, the carpenters agreed that laborers can tear them down. But forms destined to be used over are to be taken down only by the carpenters.

The two unions have been disputing over this situation for years. Strikes have resulted, delaying millions of dollars worth of construction on large projects, such as individual and commercial buildings, schools and hospitals.

Furious Winds Lash 4 States

One Person Killed In Nebraska Tornado

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tornadoes roared and moaned over the great plains last night, killing one person and injuring four others.

From the Dakotas southward into Oklahoma and Texas, the clouds unloaded their moisture in thunderstorms. The bayous around Houston, though, were getting back to normal as flood waters receded.

In a suburb of Lincoln, Nebr., a Sunday punch tornado dipped to earth and leveled a house. Mrs. Stella Morris, 78, was killed. Two others in the house were treated for injuries.

The whirling funnel of wind had scythed a path 12 miles long across the Nebraska countryside before it made its deadly strike. In its wake it left a tangle of communication and power lines.

The damaging winds hop-skip-and-jumped over Oklahoma. One woman was injured at Sapulpa, Okla., a small farm community 50 miles northwest of Woodward.

Two houses and a filling station were damaged. A twister fingered down near Rosston, and damaged a home on the outskirts of Lawrence in Harper county.

In Russell, Kans., a small tornado ignored the outskirts—it lashed down main street. One woman was critically injured, but on the edge of town 500 farmers danced on at a V. F. W. hall as the winds by-passed them.

The whirling gales smashed at Hutchinson at central Kansas, and took a swipe at Kansas City, Mo., where the roof blew off one house.

Chief Of Defense Asked To Explain Navy Air Arm Cut

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN
Washington, Oct. 10 (P)—Secretary of Defense Johnson probably will be called on to tell Congress in detail—why he proposed to cut down on the Navy's air arm.

Rep. Bates (R-Mass.) told a reporter that slashes in Navy spending proposed by Johnson "would impair security substantially." Johnson ordered them, he added, and now ought to say why.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House armed services committee, said flatly: "Of course we're going to get Johnson up here."

Bates is a member of the committee which is probing into the national defense strategy and the closely related Navy-Air Force controversy.

Secretary of the Navy Matthews has told the committee that the cuts proposed by Johnson would damage national security.

Week End Accidents Kill 14 In Michigan

(By The Associated Press)
Victims of fatal accidents in Michigan numbered at least 14 this weekend.

Eleven persons were killed in traffic mishaps, five of them in the Detroit area. Drownings took the lives of two small boys and an elderly man.

Harold O. Donovan, 41, was killed Saturday in Detroit while hurrying to catch a street car. He ran from a safety zone to board an east-bound car, and was hit by one going in the opposite direction.

Other fatal accidents in the Detroit area involved a young motorcyclist and a man killed while changing the tire on his car.

SURGEON STRICKEN
Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 10 (P)—Dr. Leslie H. S. Dewitt, 82, prominent surgeon here for 30 years, died Sunday, six years after he suffered an apoplectic stroke at Chicago. He was born at Spring Lake, Mich., and graduated from the University of Michigan medical school in 1910.

No Break Seen For Tieups In Coal And Steel

Lewis Resumes Mine Dickers Wednesday

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10 (P)—More labor walkouts may boost the nation's strike idle to two million this week.

There's no sign of peace in either the steel or coal strikes which have cut off paychecks to approximately one million.

Adding to the bleak picture is the threat aluminum and steel fabricating plants may join the 454,000 CIO United Steelworkers already on strike for free pensions and insurance.

The only sign of optimism comes from the fact that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, plans to go back to the bargaining table with coal operators Wednesday. The government is dropping both sides to end the 22-day old walkout of 380,000 soft coal diggers.

More Deadlines Near

There's also a possibility the government may try again to end the nine-day old steel strike. Cyrus Ching, director of the federal conciliation service, may summon Steelworkers' President Philip Murray and industry leaders to Washington this week.

Murray spend the weekend writing speeches. He's going on a tour to give pep talks in steel centers.

Meanwhile, Murray's lieutenants mapped final strike strategy for half a million steelworkers employed in fabricating plants where steel is used to make hundreds of articles.

Contracts in the fabricating companies start expiring Saturday. And Murray wants the men in these plants to get what his basic steel workers ask—free pensions and insurance.

October 17 is another deadline for steelworkers. Some 20,000 men employed by Aluminum Company of America have voted to strike—unless they get company paid pensions and insurance.

Rock Island Line Washout Kills 4

Meade, Kas., Oct. 10 (P)—A Rock Island passenger train hit a track washout three miles east of here today, killing four persons and injuring approximately 50.

O. K. Curry, chief clerk in the division superintendent's office at Liberal, Kas., said four persons of the 130 aboard the Chicago-bound train were killed and 50 injured.

Heavy rains occurred in the area yesterday. Ambulances from Liberal, Dodge City and Fowler, Kas., went to the scene. Meade, in southwestern Kansas, is the county seat of Meade county.

The train, "The Imperial," was eastbound from California to Chicago.

New U. S. Tariff Cuts Outlined

Dickers Designed To Spur Foreign Trade

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, Oct. 10 (P)—Full details were promised today on new American tariff cuts and other concessions on an estimated $250,000,000 of foreign imports.

The state department announced last night the reductions were agreed to in last summer's negotiations with 30 other countries at Annecy, France. Major classes of imports affected were listed but a product-by-product analysis was delayed overnight.

The Annecy negotiations, part of the reciprocal trade program, were termed by the state department a "landmark in commercial relations." Ten new nations joined representatives of the U. S. and 20 other countries which were among those signing the original 1947 general agreement on tariffs and trade at Geneva.

The general classes of goods on which the U. S. granted concessions includes chemicals and drugs; vegetable oils; crockery, glass ware; stone and stone products; iron and steel and their products; machinery and tools; wood pulp and other products.

Also included were sugars and molasses; tobacco and its products; meat and fish products; dairy products; fruits, nuts, and vegetables; and preparations thereof; textile and fiber fabrics and other products; paper and paper products; jewelry; boots, shoes and other leather goods; musical instruments; dyeing and tanning materials.

Kennecott Copper Corp. Promotes Louis Buchman

Louis Buchman of Bingham Canyon, Utah, formerly of Rapid River, has been promoted to general manager of the Kennecott Copper Corporation. He has been general manager of the Utah division since Jan. 1.

Buchman is a brother of Harry Buchman of Rapid River. The appointment, effective Oct. 1, was made by J. C. Kinnear, vice president.

In his new capacity Mr. Buchman will report to Mr. Kinnear and have supervision of operations of the Utah copper division in Utah, the Chino mines division in New Mexico, the Ray mines division in Arizona and the Nevada mines division.

His headquarters will be in Salt Lake City. Under the new setup all western mining operations will be directed from the offices there for the first time since Col. D. C. Jackling left.

Promotion of Mr. Buchman is part of a reorganization resulting from the death in a plane crash at Quebec, Canada, of E. T. Stenlund, president, who was scheduled to retire at the end of this year; Arthur D. Storke, who was to succeed him; and R. J. Parker, vice president.

Served 35 Years
Mr. Buchman has been with the old Utah Copper Co., or Kennecott for 35 years. He started with Utah Copper in 1914 as an assistant assayer at the mine and served successively as assayer, safety engineer, assistant mine superintendent, superintendent, general superintendent of mines and general superintendent of operations, which gave him operating supervision over the Bingham mine and the Magna and Arthur mills.

At the beginning of this year he was made general manager of the Utah copper division, filling a vacancy created by the retirement of D. D. Moffat.

He received his professional education at the Michigan College of Mines and worked in western mines for seven years before taking his first position with Utah Copper Co.

Farmers Warned Of Lead Poison Danger To Cows

Chicago, (SS)—Painted surfaces are a dangerous temptation to cows as well as children. The youngsters often chew the painted surfaces, and cows lick them.

In either case, lead poisoning may result if the paint contains lead. As a safety measure, for the cows, the American Veterinary Medical Association here warns farmers to use non-lead containing paints on interiors of cow barns and stables. The warning, issued here, also says to keep cows away from fences and buildings freshly painted in the fall, clean-up and not to leave old paint cans and paint-saturated rags around barnyards.

"For some reason, cows like the taste of fresh paint," the association states.

State Enters Wage Dispute

Representative To Talk With Board

A representative of the Michigan state labor relations board and the labor relations committee of the Delta county board of supervisors are scheduled to meet at 3 p. m. today in the court house to discuss the dispute between court house employees and the county.

The supervisors this morning were notified in writing by J. Emil Johnson, president of the local union of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, A. F. L., that a majority of the employees have signed a petition asking for intervention of the state labor relations board.

The meeting will be held for the mediation of salaries and working conditions.

Supervisor Harold Gustafson of Ensign, county board chairman, reported that he had a phone conversation with the state labor relations office and that a representative would be here at 3 p. m. for a meeting.

The employees of the union, composed of deputies and clerks in court house offices, and employees of the sheriff, have pressed the county board for higher wages. It is their contention that they should receive salaries comparable to those paid by the city of Escanaba for similar lines of work.

J. Emil Johnson, president of the union, is a deputy sheriff. Last June the board rejected by a one-vote margin his appearance before it as a representative of the union employees with a request for recognition.

The rescue was made by the cutter Mackinaw. The cruiser, believed sunk, foundered on a rock ledge in two feet of water off Cross Village, Mich., the Coast Guard in Chicago said.

The cruiser, Margaret, was bound for Saugatuck, Mich., to be turned over to its owner, E. S. Carr, Veterans hospital, Ft. Custer, Mich.

Rail Brotherhood May Avert Strike

Chicago, Oct. 10. (P)—The Brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers plan to meet with the nation's rail chiefs tomorrow in a session which a union source said may avert a nationwide strike.

The brotherhood announced the pow-wow after having rejected a presidential emergency board report yesterday.

The union men want to have a second fireman on diesel locomotives; the presidential board turned down the request on Sept. 19. By law, rail workers are prevented from walking off the job until 30 days after such a report is made.

The union men claim an extra man is needed on the diesels for reasons of safety. They also say the more efficient diesels are depriving firemen of jobs by cutting down the number of trains needed.

Legion Plans Midwinter Meet In St. Ignace

The annual midwinter conference of the Upper Peninsula Association of American Legion posts will be held in St. Ignace Jan. 20, 21 and 22, 1950, it was announced here during the annual Fifth zone U. P. meeting Saturday and yesterday.

Plans for the 1950 convention to be held in Sault Ste. Marie the latter part of June also were announced.

R. Gerald Barr, of Port Huron, state commander of the American Legion, was among visiting officials attending the zone meeting here over the weekend. It was regarded as a very successful meeting, C. Elmer Olson, of Escanaba district committeeman, said. Nearly every post in the U. P. was represented.

John Harrington, commander of the U. P. association, announced plans for the midwinter meeting. Wallace Belanga will be chairman of the meeting. National and state officials will attend.

Carl C. Wedenhoefer, of Sault Ste. Marie, has accepted the chairmanship of the U. P. Legion convention in the Soo, it was announced.

Dentists Will Hear Telephone Lectures From Chicago Tonight

Chicago, Oct. 10. (P)—If you're going to have a toothache, don't get it this evening. You dentist may be all tied up with a long distance phone call.

But it's all for your own good if he's one of 7,000 tooth fillers in 39 states. He'll be listening to a lecture telling him how to be an even better dentist.

The dentists will be hearing the first lecture of a new six months course being conducted by telephone from the University of Illinois.

Here's the idea: In your home town—the dentists gather around a loud speaker tied in to a phone connection. They do this for two hours once each month. The dentists get postgraduate instruction—and your dentist doesn't have to go off and leave you to get it.

In Chicago—a panel of six dental experts lecture, speaking into the phone network.

Across the country, 142 dental society groups will be listening. The charge is $10 a man for the series.

The idea started when Dr. Saul Levy, of Scranton, Pa., found out he was too busy to get off for postgrad study. He and 19 other dentists arranged to hear some lectures by telephone from his alma mater, Illinois. That's why tonight is a bad night to have that old wisdom tooth start giving you a twinge; because a lot of dentists are following Dr. Levy's lead.

Students At MSC Enliven Ann Arbor; 15 Put On Probation

East Lansing, Oct. 10. (P)—Fifteen Michigan State college students today were placed on social probation for living up Ann Arbor with pranks preceding the Michigan-Michigan State football game.

Dean of Students Stanley E. Crowe, refusing to release the students' names, said the probation would last until the end of the current term in December.

Among the pranks were a well planned attempt to seal up the engineering arch on the Ann Arbor campus, and painting up U. of M. buildings and the stadium turf.

First blood in the pre-game Hinks was drawn by U. of M. partisans who smeared large "M's" over Michigan State buildings and the statue of the Spartan on the East Lansing campus.

The 73-year-old Pope plans to give his scooter to a country mission to carry priests in remote rural areas.

War I Veterans Get Increase In Disability Checks

Washington, Oct. 10. (P)—President Truman today signed a bill increasing disability and dependency payments to World War I veterans by an estimated $112,000,000 yearly.

Its major provisions:

1. Provide full compensation, instead of 75 per cent, for veterans whose illness or disability is presumed to have resulted from war service.
2. Increase the length of time for which payments may be made for arrested cases of tuberculosis.
3. Create a new disability schedule based on $150 monthly for total disability and $15 for 10 percent disability. The old rate was $135 and $13.80.
4. Increase monthly payments to widows with one child from $100 to $105, and the rate for additional children from $15 to $25 monthly.
5. Allow veterans with 50 per cent or more disability to receive additional payments for dependents. The old law required 60 per cent or more disability.

Chicken Money Lures Atlanta Robbers; Two Youths Land In Jail

Atlanta, Oct. 10. (P)—The lure of an aged couple's chicken money has landed a Negro and the son of a prominent dentist in jail and sent the dentist, his attorney and two others to hospitals.

Jailed last night on charges of armed robbery and robbery by force were Harold L. Holtzendorff, jr., 23, and Henry Gary, 26, a Negro.

Critically injured in an automobile accident as they raced to the scene of the arrest in sparsely settled north Fulton county were Dr. H. L. Holtzendorff, sr., and Attorney Quillian J. Hall.

The other two injured, both less seriously hurt, were John Powell, 18, and Jo Anne Spence, 17.

Fulton police Lieut. J. W. Gilbert said the younger Holtzendorff and Gary were charged with attempting to rob Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Power, both over 65, of their chicken money.

The aged couple, said Gilbert, recently had sold a large flock and reportedly had the proceeds hidden somewhere in their modest home.

Copper Country Thefts Solved

Stolen Stocks Turn Up In Detroit

Detroit, Oct. 10. (P)—An attempt to sell some stock certificates gave police the tipoff in solving four Upper Peninsula burglaries, officers said today.

Three Detroiters were arrested and sent north to face charges in safe-crackings at Houghton and Calumet. They are Frank Cencich, 41, his brother Thomas, 29, and Peter Terban, 30.

Police Sgt. George Zelman said American Telephone and Telegraph stock certificates were obtained in one of the burglaries—at the Bell Telephone office in Calumet.

Last week, Zelman said, a Detroit broker reported to police that a woman had tried to sell these certificates. Officers arrested Dorothy Bruder, 34, a companion of Frank Cencich, on Wednesday.

The following day they picked up the Cencich brothers and then, on Friday, Terban was arrested. The trio were held here during further investigation over the weekend.

Zelman said they were being returned to Houghton today. Miss Bruder was also held and a forgery warrant was to be asked against her, according to Zelman.

The sergeant said none of the three men would talk.

All four of the burglaries were pulled the same night—July 31. Safes were cracked at the Seven-ty Up Bottling plant in Houghton and the Bell Telephone office, Armstrong-Thielman Lumber Co., and Peterlin Bros. Wholesale warehouse, all in Calumet.

Zelman said $2,000 in war bonds and a gun were found in the home of Frank Cencich. He said $600 of these were identified as bonds taken in one of the Calumet burglaries.

Cencich gave the stock certificates to Miss Bruder to sell after

Gary Hard Hit
Thousands of persons in allied industries will be thrown out of work if the fabricating plants strike.

In the auto capital at Detroit most firms are operating on a normal basis but uncertainty prevails regarding future operations.

Packard Motor Car company resumed operations with a two-thirds working force today after a two-day shutdown to look over its steel inventory. So did Briggs Manufacturing company which makes Packard's bodies.

Most of the unemployment resulting from the twin strikes to date has been on the railroads where approximately 50,000 men have been furloughed. But here and there other thousands have been idled or are working at reduced schedules.

Ordinary business in the steel and coal centers has been hit heavily. At Gary, Ind., 30,000 of the city's 36,100 payrollers are idle and general business is estimated to be 15 to 25 per cent off.

In Pittsburgh retail merchants are appealing to strikers to hold off on credit purchases. Virtually all types of retail shops report a sharp drop in business.

Eight Accept Terms

"Steel" magazine said full effects of the steel strike won't be felt for two or three weeks. It predicted at the start of the strike that consumer inventories were large enough for 30 days.

The nation's ingot rate was placed at 7.5 per cent of capacity and the magazine said this resulted from a "surprisingly large number of steelworkers" which have contracts with independent unions or have met union demands.

So far eight steel companies, employing 11,450, have accepted Murray's terms. The terms are simply what the presidential fact finding board recommended—six cents per man hour for pensions and four cents for insurance.

U. S. Steel corporation took full page newspaper advertisements reiterating it would not agree to a non-contributory plan. It has offered to pay 10 cents an hour for pensions and insurance —if Murray's men chip in.

Dr. Schoenmann To Address Tonight Council Meeting

Dr. Schoenmann heads a staff of specialists who advise resort owners and operators on all phases of operational procedure and is in a position to give invaluable aid in the projects that have been planned.

A record turnout is expected and plans to "hold them in '50" will be discussed.

Navy Seeking To Block Unification

CHAIRMAN VINSON of the house armed forces committee, who for years has been the navy's spokesman in congress, has called for a congressional curb on the powers of Secretary of Defense Johnson. Vinson's action was taken after Admiral Arthur Radford, Pacific fleet commander, had testified that the B-36 army bomber is a 1941 model plane and charged that the navy was not getting equitable treatment under the program of unification of the armed services.

The navy has opposed unification of the services from the start and the officers of the navy have done everything within their power to prevent unification from becoming completely successful. In the days before the merging of the armed forces, the navy had a virtual blank check. There was no effort and no desire to coordinate the navy organization with the army or air force.

The American people are naturally proud of the U. S. navy, which is unequalled in the world today. The navy need not fear that this great branch of American defense will be scuttled under the unification program. The principle of unification, however, has been approved by the public and it is now the established policy of this government.

Unification was strongly recommended by the Hoover commission, after an exhaustive study of national defense needs, and it was enacted by congress. The present secretary of defense, Mr. Johnson, is a vigorous supporter of unification and he is doing everything in his power to put into effect the recommendations of the Hoover commission. It is for that reason that the navy is seeking to clip the powers of the defense secretary and to prevent the success of the unification program.

"Free Medicine" Is Plenty Costly

THE health minister of Great Britain, Aneurin Bevan, has issued a report on the first year of operation of the socialized medicine program in that country. As might be anticipated, Bevan found cause in the report for jubilation. That is his job as health minister. You would hardly expect him to call attention to the unfavorable aspects of the program.

The British experimentation in medicine has often been referred to as "free medicine" but the annual report hardly justifies this term. The taxpayers of Britain last year paid out the equivalent of $40 million dollars for this so-called "free medicine."

Mr. Bevan conceded in his report that there is a tendency for doctors to over-prescribe such things as liver pills, aspirins, etc., for their patients "to guard themselves a second visit."

He also admitted that eye specialists have been willing to prescribe two and three pairs of spectacles for patients, with the result that there is a waiting list of three million persons for whom glasses have been prescribed but for whom glasses are not yet available.

The real truth of the experiment in socialized medicine in Britain is that it is encouraging extravagance at a time when England can least afford extravagance. It has developed a groving army of hypochondriacs invading the medical offices in droves. The result is that a person who is really ill and requires immediate medical attention invariably must go to a private doctor to get the service his condition requires.

Those who are advocating this kind of a program for America should study the British experiment closely. They will find little to whet their enthusiasm for "free medicine."

Who Is To Blame For Chinese Debacle?

NOW that the Chinese Reds are advancing on Canton, last great city of the Chinese Nationalists, our statesmen at Washington are trying to fix the blame for pitching the most populous country in the world, and perhaps the entire Far East, into the Moscow camp.

Was it the corruption of the Chiang Kai-shek crowd, or the disgust and dependency of the Chinese people? Are they so sick of war that they see no benefit in carrying on under the old regime? Have they had enough of the Old Deal, and have they decided to "turn the rascals out" even if it means letting the Communists in?

Or did our state department fumble the ball at a critical period, when the administration failed to send aid to China on the same basis as Greece and Turkey? Or was President Roosevelt to blame, when he agreed that Stalin could keep any territory he might grab in the Far East?

Or could it have been that our leadership failed to grasp the significance of a Communist Asia, while concentrating on the troubles of Europe?

Whatever or whoever is to blame, it appears likely that China has become meat for the Communists, and they are taking over at a rapid rate. Already the Communist leaders are dispossessing the old Nationalist landlords, and in some cases 'liquidating' them, and dividing the acreage among the thousands of little farmers who are everywhere in China.

There doesn't seem to be much chance that farm collectives will be formed on a vast scale in China, as they have been in Russia. The Chinese farmer who forms the bulk of the population is an individualist. If he can be confirmed in the undisputed ownership of a few acres by the new Communist masters, it isn't likely that he will breathe any sighs of regret over Chiang and the old corrupt and grafting crowd who were in control. It was the latter who did most to ruin free enterprise in China. There is little doubt that the great mass of the Chinese peasantry is glad to see them go, and that the economic viewpoint, rather than the political, will govern the situation in the long run.

Senator Vandenberg Gaining Steadily

THE announcement from University of Michigan hospital that Senator Arthur Vandenberg is making a satisfactory recovery from a serious operation in which a part of his left lung was removed is cheering news to the senator's army of friends throughout the world.

The Michigan senior senator is the recognized leader in the senate on foreign affairs. More than any other man, he has been responsible for the success of the American bi-partisan foreign policy.

When Senator Vandenberg entered University hospital to submit to the operation from which he is now recovering, the seriousness of his condition was not generally known. The announcement that half of his left lung had been removed was the first indication to the public that his recent clinical examinations were anything more than routine.

The senator's friends in Michigan and throughout this country, as well as his admirers in foreign lands, are happy to learn that he is recovering satisfactorily and wish him a speedy return to health.

GLAMOR AND THE FARM (Green Bay Press Gazette)

Because that estimable journal of agricultural affairs has broken the ice on the subject, we hasten to mention the idea of the Wisconsin Agriculturist and Farmer that the Wisconsin farm operator devote some of his expanding leisure to beautifying his farmstead.

It has seemed to many an urban dweller with an eye for rural landscapes that the Wisconsin countryside could be infinitely more beautiful were its landowners to devote time and imagination to the planting of trees and shrubs on and around the farm grounds.

We don't propose any invidious comparisons about the degree of spare time that is involved in city and farm living, but it is demonstrable, we believe, that with the commonplace advantages of power-driven machinery and electrically propelled gadgets for such chores as milking today's farmer has more opportunity for the esthetic elements of husbandry than did his sires.

There was a movement among the 4-H clubs some years ago for the beautification of farms, rural schoolhouses and other places of rural habitation. We believe it should be revived, so that our Wisconsin landscape can recapture the fullness of natural beauty which is its happy potential.

There are more than 7000 trotting horses in the country. We wonder how many rocking horses there are on the race tracks.

Winter Park: Please verify the word "spelunk"—E. M.

A. Spelunk is a Middle English word meaning, "cavern; cave; den; lair." It evolved from the Latin spelunca, "a cave," from the Greek spelux. It's pronounced: spee-LUNGK. An amateur cave explorer is called a spelunker, pronounced: spee-LUNGK-er. An expert or professional is a speleologist, pronounced: SPEE-lee-OLL-uh-jist.

A. My transcription which follows has been approved by the Brazilian Embassy at Washington. Note: the "oo" syllables are as in foot, not as in food: REE-oo duh zah-NEH-roo.

The American pronunciation is: REE-oh duh zhu-NEHR-oh.

A. Dachshund is German for "badger dog." The German pronunciation of the word is DAHKSS-hoont ("oo" as in foot) appears to be increasingly used, especially among dog fanciers and dachshund breeders and owners. Also frequently heard: DAHKSS-hoond. The older pronunciation "DASH-und" is obsolete.

Lawmakers Are Practicing Law

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—One of the most remarkable cases to be heard in any court in a long time has just been argued before the circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia. The question to be decided is whether members of Congress shall have the right to go into the federal courts and act for client in return for fees paid.

If the answer is yes, then the influence industry in Washington will take a new and bolder turn. If that practice is declared legal, there undoubtedly will be a rush to hire influential lawyer-members of Congress. Election to Congress could become a license to engage in the lucrative practice of law on the influence level.

Those who argue for the right of congressmen to go into the federal courts for fees insist that since the practice was not specifically forbidden by the founding fathers it must, therefore, be legal. But I doubt that the founding fathers ever dreamed of a time when the elected representatives of the people would offer themselves for hire to individuals or corporations.

CASE OF DIVIDED POWERS

One thing that makes this case so extraordinary is that you have two branches of the government—legislative and judicial—carrying their dispute to an appeals court. It is a quaint example of what can happen under our system of divided powers.

The dispute began when Rep. Earl Chudoff of Pennsylvania appeared in federal district court here last May representing a client charged with sending obscene matter through the mails. The judge was James P. McGranery, former congressman and former assistant to the attorney general.

Judge McGranery told Chudoff he would be violating the law if he appeared in court. Chudoff's reply was that other members of Congress had done the same thing and, therefore, he saw no reason why he should be forbidden.

McGranery was perfectly well aware of what Chudoff meant. A recent conspicuous instance was that of another Pennsylvanian, Rep. Francis E. Walter, now serving his ninth term in the House. Walter took a fee of $170,000 for representing stockholders in a suit against the Pennrod corporation and the Pennsylvania railroad.

JUDGE REFUSES

But the judge stood his ground. Chudoff's suit is to compel McGranery and other federal judges in eastern Pennsylvania to permit him to appear in their courts.

McGranery, it seems to me, has shown great courage in refusing to be intimidated in this matter. He must himself pay any costs in connection with the suit since the judiciary is not provided with a fund to defend itself from the legislature. His attorney is Joseph W. Henderson, a former president of the American Bar association.

A curious aspect of this curious suit is that the case in which Chudoff originally wanted to appear for a client was a relatively minor one. There must be those back of Chudoff who have far more at stake and who, therefore, are determined to get a ruling that will make it all legal.

Only a few members of Congress have thus far gone into the courts for pay. But the members of Senate and House, most of whom are lawyers, would not be likely in the absence of a specific ruling to take such a step.

The relation between Congress and the judiciary is very close. Members of Senate and House judiciary committees pass on the qualification of judges newly nominated and those raised from lower to higher courts.

JUDGE SHOWED COURAGE

Representative Walter is ranking majority member of the House Judiciary committee. Obviously, if he appears in a federal court, he is not just another lawyer. Even the most upright of judges cannot help but think of his own advancement.

It is here that McGranery's courage in standing his ground is conspicuous. He will certainly not endeavor himself to those members of Congress who want to legalize their private law practice.

Congressmen are, of course, specifically forbidden to appear for fees before departments and agencies of the federal government. McGranery's contention is that the federal courts were not included in this ban merely because the founding fathers could not conceive of a time when there would be a vast body of federal criminal law such as exists today.

Senior judge of the appeals court hearing this strange case is John Biggs of Wilmington, Del. Judge Biggs not long ago drew down the wrath of southern Congressmen who denounced him for refusing to honor a writ of extradition from the state of Georgia returning a prisoner to a Georgia chain gang.

To blur the lines that separate the divided powers of our government is to risk the very existence of an independent judiciary. That is the reason this case is so important and why it should finally be passed upon by the supreme court.

There is another and a newer word for chiropodist?—E. R. T.

A. The newer word is podiatrist, pronounced poe-DY-uh-trist, from the Greek podos, "foot." A podiatrist treats disorders of the feet. Podiatry is pronounced poe-DY-uh-tree.

Good Evening

KEEP IT CLEAN—Under a new state law effective Sept. 23, following adoption earlier this year by the Michigan legislature, added penalties can be invoked against those who delight in throwing glass and rubbish around on public property.

Dunathan

Specifically, the throwing of glass on a beach or waters adjacent thereto, or upon any highway or walk or public property within 50 feet of a public highway, was made a misdemeanor. The penalties of a previous law prohibiting placing of garbage and rubbish upon a public highway were increased.

This is all to the good and we can expect that in rare instances the law will be invoked, the culprits prosecuted, fined or jailed.

OR BE CAUTIOUS—In the majority of cases, however, the rubbish-throwers and glass-breakers will keep right on with their old and dishonorable practice.

They will watch their opportunities. In the darkness of the night the beer and whiskey bottles will be tossed along the roads, into parks, and onto beaches.

The rubbish-throwers will carry the stuff around with them for hours, waiting for that moment when the highway is clear of autos. They will slow down, open the car door, and dump out a fine accumulation of dirt along the roadside. Or they will drive off the highway into a private road or public park and there furtively unload.

FOR THE FEW—It is fortunate that only a minority of our population disposes of its trash in this way. If all of us went in for illegal and clandestine rubbish disposal it would not be long until conditions would become so foul that extreme penalties might be established to halt the practice.

As it stands now, the few are spoiling the shore and countryside for others—but conditions are not yet bad enough to make those few change their ways. They can overlook the broken beer bottles at the beach and the debris along the roadsides. Perhaps the answer to the problem is for everyone to take up wholesale glass-breaking and rubbish dumping—in self-protection.

And then, perhaps it wouldn't help a bit. For some people are so accustomed to unsightly and unhealthy conditions that they thrive on it.

THE INCORRIGIBLES—The most difficult persons to correct are those who keep their own premises clean and neat, but toss their empty cans and bottles into the neighbor's yard.

It is this group that is responsible for much of the trash to be found along roadsides and shores. They know all of their own rights and privileges—but none of the responsibilities of good citizenship.

They visit a picnic spot to eat and toss egg shells and paper all around; they take their empty bottles to the shore and let the children throw stones at them until the beach is dangerous with broken glass; and then they go home and live like little angels for another week.

Economic expansion today presents a strikingly different challenge from that of a hundred years ago. Then, the frontier development was the opening up of our great western resources. The geographic frontier is gone, but we still have a frontier of development. That frontier is technology.

a most difficult task. If it is public property it is nobody's property—at least that is the feeling among many people. Parks, roads, lakes, rivers and streets are not privately owned, therefore they can be despoiled.

Every man and woman and child should understand that public property belongs to them collectively. It is theirs to use and to enjoy, but not theirs to abuse and destroy. For since all of us have a share in public property, those who abuse and destroy it are despoiling property that, in part at least, belongs to us.

Certainly no person can be criticized who reports another for damaging public property. Rather he should be commended for this interest in behalf of property whose ownership is shared by all of us.

THE CARELESS—Many of us are careless in our use of public property. Or let us say we are less careful than we are in the use of our own property.

There is excuse for thoughtlessly discarded refuse in a park, the forgetting of paper on the grass. That is why maintenance of public property is necessary. But wanton destruction, unlawful abuse, and deliberate vandalism can be corrected only by arrest and prosecution.

The Fur Industry

Dear Editor:

The fur industry is pretty big business in this part of the country and what happens to the fur industry should be of concern to more people in this territory than just the fur breeders.

Delta county fur ranchers have many thousands of dollars invested in the fur business and our furs are considered to be among the finest in the world.

I wonder how many people really know that the fur industry in this country is seriously threatened by the importation of furs from abroad. I wouldn't think so much about it if these furs were coming from countries friendly to the United States, but most of the foreign furs dumped on the American market are from Russia. In other words, the American people are helping Russia to finance the cold war against us. These furs, mind you, are coming into this country duty-free. The only tariffs on imported furs are on manufactured products but raw furs, such as we are getting from Siberia and northern Russia, are tax exempt.

Isn't it about time that we get wise to ourselves, protect our own fur industry, and quit financing Russia's cold war against us? — A Farmer.

Pension Questions

Dear Editor:

Two questions regarding the proposed pension plan for Gladstone City Employees have been asked which I believe are of sufficient public interest to warrant publication.

Question: Will the pension plan, if adopted, increase taxes? Answer: With present sources of income remaining the same and a return to normal of the labor situation it might be possible to finance without increase in property taxes, however this item must be added to the budget each year after adoption.

Question: It is rumored that upon the death of a City employee his beneficiary will receive $2000.00. Is this the meaning of "Death Benefits"?

Answer: No. The only death benefits are 1. a return to the beneficiary of money contributed by the employee in case of death before the retirement or before receiving an amount of retirement equal to his contributions, in which case the difference would be paid to his beneficiary. 2. On option to accept a reduced pension whereby his beneficiary would receive an annuity after his death. This amount would be the actual equivalent of a straight pension, the amounts of each depending on the age and life expectancy of employee and beneficiary.

Cheap partisan politics are using Vaughan to embarrass President Truman and trying to use me the same way.—David A. Bennett, Chicago perfume manufacturer who sent freezers to Maj.-Gen. Harry Vaughan

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—In the confidential files of Sen. Clyde Hoy's investigating committee is a report on Gen. Harry Vaughan and his partner, John Maragon, in which they seek sunken treasure at the bottom of the sea.

And as usual, they pull a lot of political wires to get the treasure.

This is one part of the Vaughan-Maragon investigation which Senator "Just - the - usual - procedure" Hoy wants to suppress. It is also a chapter which President Truman is exerting pressure to hush up, despite the fact that he made his great reputation as a Senate investigator.

Most interesting phase of the secret Vaughan-Maragon treasure hunt is that they cut another company out of the deal—despite the fact that the other company had a prior contract to salvage the ore in the sunken SS Edward Luckenbach.

Vaughan's friends got the contract without competitive bidding. This was the only case in history where a salvage contract was let without competitive bidding, except one—where the commission did not own the cargo.

The SS Luckenbach, sunk in 60 feet of water off Key West, Fla., by a Nazi sub in 1942 was carrying a cargo of tin worth more than $2,000,000. The cargo, owned by the U. S. government and partly salvaged, now comes under the Maritime Commission and the U. S. Metals Reserve Corporation, plus a private firm, the Cargo Salvage Corp., of New York. The private firm represents the insurance companies which paid off the government, and therefore have a stake in salvaging the sunken tin.

MARAGON THROWS WEIGHT

Because of this, the private insurance companies through their agent, the Cargo Salvage Corp., signed a contract Nov. 6, 1947 with Clark Brothers of Palm Beach, Fla., to salvage the cargo of the SS Luckenbach. This contract had no time limitation and is still legally in effect.

However, one year later, the amazing Mr. Maragon and the president's military aide stepped in and pulled the rug right out from under them. Instead they secured a provisional contract to recover the sunken ore for their friends, Robert Stefanich and Zeke Afram of Milwaukee.

General Vaughan used to be a manufacturers' representative in Milwaukee and is a close friend of Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man. Hoffman is the man who arranged to have the seven deep freezers sent to Mrs. Truman, Vaughan and other bigwigs at the time Maragon was caught smuggling perfume, thought the deep freezers were paid for by the perfume company—which, at about that time, purchased four airplanes and three yachts at amazingly low prices from the government.

AFTER TRUMAN'S VACATION

Shortly after President Truman came back from his Key West vacation in December 1948, Robert Stefanich of Milwaukee, dropped in at the Maritime Commission to see if he could salvage the ship which had sunk just 25 miles northwest of Key West. The commission told him to send a diver down to look at the cargo, after which they would talk to him.

In January, 1949, Stefanich came back, said he had not been able to send a diver down, but wanted a contract for salvaging the vessel just the same. His conversation was with Jerry C. Massey, admiralty counsel of the commission, who later reported:

"Since he had not done what he promised, I considered he was wasting my valuable time desperately needed on other Maritime Commission business and making a nuisance of himself. I told him so in so many words.

"Early next morning," continued Massey in his official report, "to my surprise he walked in with John Maragon.

"Maragon stated that he would go into the matter of obtaining a contract for the Atlantic Marine Salvaging Co., and then he would 'report to General Vaughan.'

"In the course of the conversation," Massey continued, "he (Maragon) repeated several times 'I will go back and report to General Vaughan.' I resented this. Maragon gave me the definite impression that he was an employee of General Vaughan. He talked to me in a tone of giving me an order that the contract be given the Atlantic Marine Salvaging Co. I also resented this. The above caused me to express my feelings rather heatedly."

Massey was so upset by Maragon's high-handedness that he discussed the matter with two associates, Joseph Tarian and Charles E. Kauffman, and asked them to sit in as witnesses if Maragon called again. They did so, and after the next meeting, Kauffman wrote a report which stated:

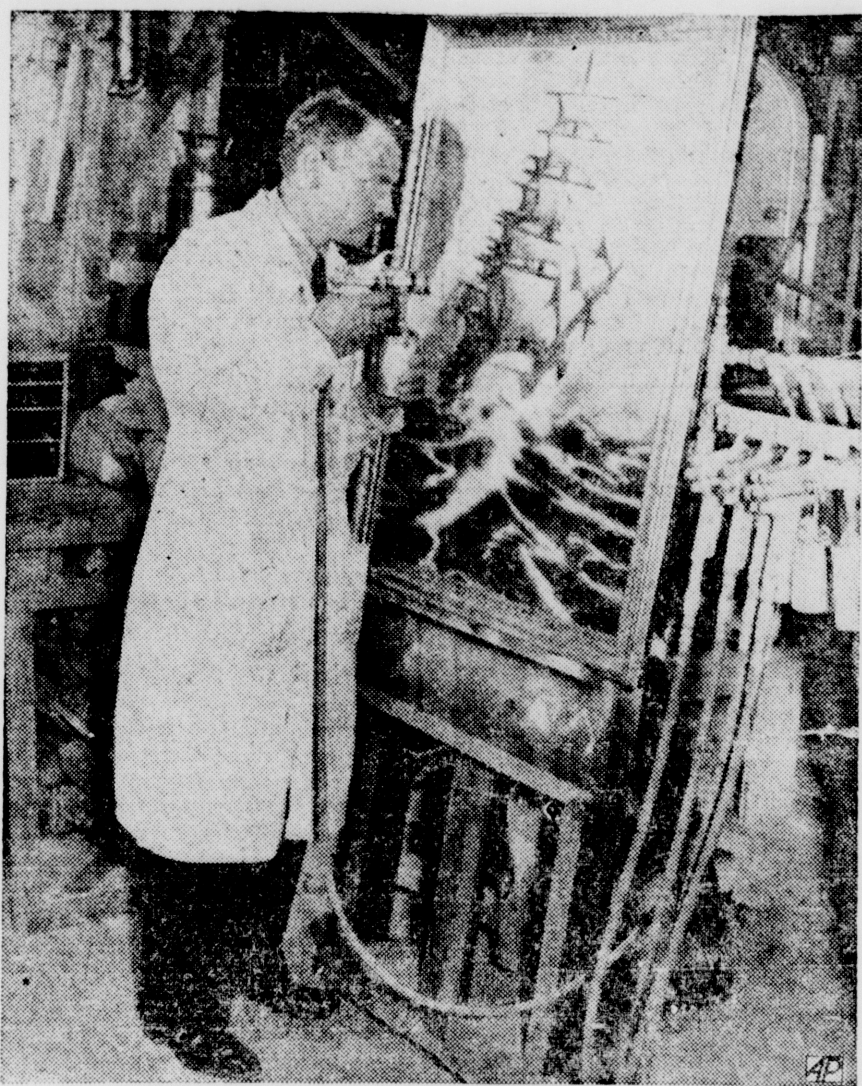

"I asked who he (Maragon) represented and he replied, 'I'm with the General.' This meant nothing to me so I asked what general and he answered, 'General Vaughan.'"

"Before Maragon left he said he was 'with the White House.' It was my assumption that he was a federal employee, probably attached to General Vaughan's staff. As a matter of fact, during our first meeting, Maragon went to my desk, picked up the phone, asked for the White House and spoke to someone there."

GEN. VAUGHAN TELEPHONES

That Vaughan was fully aware of Maragon's activity was indicated later by the fact that he called Massey to make sure that his Milwaukee friends were getting the contract.

Iron Mountain Artist Squirts His Pictures On With Spray Guns

MACHINE AGE ARTIST—Ralph De Gayner of Iron Mountain, borrows some of the techniques of Michigan's auto makers to produce a picture. Instead of applying the paint with a brush, he squirts it on with a spray gun. The result is mass production. De Gayner says he has turned out as many as 1,500 pictures in a year. The novel technique has already won him some renown. (AP Photo)

Iron Mountain, Mich.—(P)—When Ralph De Gayner picks up his spray gun in the cause of art, the bones of Rembrandt rattle sadly in their grave.

The Dutch master used to spend months on a painting. De Gayner and his spray gun can do one in five minutes. And although he quickly admits he is no Rembrandt, the mustachioed Iron Mountain artist prefers his own way of doing things.

"I wouldn't be caught dead with a brush in my hand," he has said.

De Gayner's work is the end product of the impact of the machine age on art. Eschewing the brush and oils, he produces a painting with a battery of spray guns and a few cans of synthetic oil enamel.

This he goes with such remarkable speed that he has turned out as many as 1,500 pictures a year. He can whip out a misty looking landscape in five minutes. A marine scene, complete with Clipper ship, waves and rigging, takes 90 minutes.

Furthermore, people like his pictures. He has sold some for as high as $100. Others go for a mere $10, or at the niggardly rate of two dollars a minute.

De Gayner, a brisk looking man in his early forties, mass produces his paintings at his backwoods home near the village of Channing, in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. There, with his wife and several children, he is shaping a career that began by accident 15 years ago.

At the time, De Gayner was working for his father, an automobile dealer in Iron Mountain. One day he picked up an idle spray gun and drew a picture on the garage wall. It intrigued him. A few days later, doing some outside work, he was finishing a window display for a gas company and found it necessary to paint in part of the display's background.

Again he picked up a spray gun and "blew" on some green grass, blue skies and clouds. The display was a success.

Soon De Gayner went to Chicago and got a job as an auto painter. Occasionally he'd entertain his fellow employees by drawing more pictures with spray guns. And in the course of time he became an expert at the technique.

It wasn't long before De Gayner began winning a bit of local fame for himself. A national auto parts show hired him for a demonstration, and in four days he performed before 25,000 persons. Soon he began touring around the nation, showing the wonders he could work with a spray gun.

For the next three years, De Gayner estimates, he produced 3,000 pictures for the persons who saw his shows. His favorite subjects were, and still are, the cut-over timber lands of his native northern country.

Throughout the tour, he tried to win approval not as a curiosity but as an artist. In this he was at least partly successful.

"The artists still think it's cheese," he said then, "but dealers sell it, and that's the big thing."

"The fact that I am able to execute unique paintings with a spray gun does not in itself insure success," De Gayner explained. "It is the quality of the paintings that determines whether my work is worthwhile doing."

"I am now concentrating on getting better composition and color effects. And proof that I am improving is found in the type of art dealers who are writing for quotations on my work."

Watching De Gayner in operation, witnesses are amazed at the speed with which the pictures spring to life. But there's no trick to it, according to the artist.

The main skill is in controlling the triggers of the five to 10 guns containing the different colors. Delicate pressure creates fine lines, a heavy touch causes a smudge. Gradations of color are accomplished by varying the amount of air blown with the enamel.

With this mechanized technique, De Gayner regards himself as a sort of Henry Ford in the field of mass produced painting.

Summing it up, he asks: "After all, authors use typewriters. Why can't I use spray guns?"

China's Yellow river went on a rampage in 1886, flooding 20,000 square miles and claiming 2,000,000 lives.

First Local Sawmill Was Built Over Century Ago

LUMBERMAN AND SENATOR—Isaac Stephenson, perhaps the most famous name connected with lumbering in this area, died in 1918 at the age of 89 years. Over a century ago, in 1848, Stephenson and his associates purchased large tracts of timber land on the Escanaba, Ford, and Sturgeon Rivers and on Big Bay de Nocquet. Noted as a lumber manufacturer and capitalist, his career was climaxed by his election to the U. S. Senate from Wisconsin in 1908. The center of operations for the I. Stephenson company in this area was at Wells.

(This is Part 2 in a history of Delta county lumbering, prepared for the Delta County Historical Society. Today's installment describes some of the mills and the men who built them.)

By CARL J. SAWYER

The history of saw mills on the Escanaba river and in the City of Escanaba shows the first sawmill was built about 1838 and located at the island above the present Escanaba Paper company mill. It was built by a Mr. Donald McLeod of Green Bay, who sold out to Smith Brothers in 1842. John and Joseph Smith constituted "Smith Bros." The second mill was built about where the lower dam is now by Smith Brothers in 1844. They sold out to Sinclair and Wells in 1846.

The older mill was operated during 1844 by Billings and Richards (probably under lease). Silas Billings and George Richards.

Both of these mills were water powered. They used Mulay saws, much like the present whip or lee saw and cut horizontally on the downward stroke.

Jefferson Sinclair and Daniel Wells decided part of their interest to the N. Ludington Company about 1850 or 1851. Isaac Stephenson bought into the concern about 1858.

The N. Ludington Company built a large mill adjoining the hardwood factory, now operated by the Shepeck Dimension Company. This mill was torn down after the purchase of the property by Shepeck.

Stephenson Mill Burns
About 1909 the I. Stephenson Company built the New Mill which was operated until it burned in 1922.

All of these newer mills were steam powered and the later one was a band mill.

There was Lords mill located on the Danforth Road on Section 10 Town 39 Range 23 also.

The N. Ludington and is successor, I. Stephenson Company, got their logs by driving the Escanaba or Flat Rock River into the Escanaba and Lake Superior Railroad was built. The last drive was in 1906, I think. I was cruising along the river that year below Cornell and saw the rear crew using horses to move the logs over the shallow places.

The E. & L. S. Ry was built as far as Watson in 1898. In 1900 it was finished to Channing on the C. M. & St. P. Ry.

The building of this railroad coincided with the use of hardwood. It enabled the company to bring in the pine and softwoods, as well as the hardwood. The softwood had been logged off most of the lands tributary to the river before the railroad was built. I think the main reason the road was built to Channing was to share in the freight on goods coming to Escanaba, and to give the I. Stephenson Company some leverage in freight rates on their lumber shipments.

Extend Rail Lines
Shortly after the railroad was put through to Channing, a branch was built north from Northland to tap a considerable stand of pine west of Gwinn or Swanzy. Many branches were built off this branch, one of which turned off to the northeast at Old Kates in Section 3 Town 43 Range 26 and was headed for the Stephenson Mine, which had been opened up on Section 20 Town 45 Range 25, but this branch was never finished to the mine. It was used only as a logging branch and called the Austin Branch.

There were several saw mills located along the E&LS Ry. The largest was at Northland owned by the Wolverine Cedar and Lumber Co., a small mill at Cornell owned by John Colburn, a shingle mill at Alfred at the junction of the North Branch and main Ford River owned by a Mr. Bowman at Menominee.

Other mills at Escanaba were the U. S. Woodware Company with plant near the north city limits. The Stegath Lumber Company had a small mill where the Green Mill (vener plant now) is located. The Escanaba Woodware had a large plant making butter dishes, pie plates and clothes pins across from the C&NW depot in what was built for a roller mill at one time. This plant also sawed some lumber about 1920 and 1921.

A Mr. Johnson built a saw mill just north of the Birds Eye Veneer plant which was taken over by James R. Andrews of this city, which went out of existence about 1940.

Many Local Plants

The Northwestern Coopers & Lumber Company of Gladstone had a stove mill northwest of the Escanaba Woodware plant which was closed about 1900.

The Mashek Chemical and Iron Company had a plant north of Wells which later was called the Delta Chemical Company, where they burned chemical wood into charcoal also made pig iron. There were three cedar yards in Escanaba. The National Pole Company had a pole yard near the present Birds Eye Veneer Company plant. Erickson and Bissell had a post yard north of the Danforth yard, as did also E. C. Norton. The latter yard was taken over by the Learned Cedar Company and later by the Sawyer-Stoll Timber Company who moved their cedar business to a site near the Birds Eye Veneer Company in 1942 when the new docks were built by the government on account of the war.

There were and are two veneer plants in Escanaba. The Green Mill was built by Tuxford and Blanchard in 1909. The Birds Eye Veneer Company was built by Mr. Tuxford and local capital in 1912. The Green Mill was taken over and run by T. M. Judson who also managed the Escanaba Woodware Company. When he passed away it was run by Willis Anthony.

The I. Stephenson Company had a pole yard at Wells.

The Chicago & North Western Ry. Co. built a tie treating plant near the ore docks at Escanaba in 1903. From 1896 to 1926 they purchased a total of 3,700,000 ties here in Michigan. Most of these ties, as well as what they bought in Wisconsin, were treated at this plant.

Mr. George Wiltzie tells me that a Mr. Tuttle had a shingle mill at the foot of what is now Ludington street. This was later taken over by the I. S. Co. where they conducted a retail lumber yard operating at the time I came here.

Prior to the building of the Kates Branch, a branch was put in from Woodlawn running south-west. The branch crossed the Ford River twice, once at the Big Dam, now called Finn Settlement. A branch also went off the Woodlawn branch south to what is now known as Truax Settlement, turned west and crossed the river in Section 1 Town 40 Range 25. This branch tapped the best hardwood area in the district. Fred Truax, Oscar Cooper, John Ring, John and Walter Schrader and a Mr. Sprague were the early settlers in this area.

The Kates Branch was extended from Old Kates to New Kates, passing Kates Lake and ending about in the center of Town 47 Range 27. Much pine and hardwood came out of this district. This old railroad grade is now used as a woods highway, crossing the West Branch of the Escanaba River at what was called Bridge One. About the time this branch was put in, the Mashek Chemical & Iron Company put in a chemical plant near Wells to use the refuse developed in cutting hardwood. This plant was later called Delta Chemical Company.

A large number of people from Kentucky were imported to cut this type of cordwood. A George Wiltzie looked after this cutting for many years.

The Ralph Branch was built about 1909. The Golden Branch a little later. The Golden Branch was also called the Turner Branch.

Cruised There in 1906

The Hendricks Branch was built in 1912. This ran northeast and cut ending near what is now Boney Falls. Most of the logging was done by Victor and Charles Larson, known as Larson Bros., who were jobbers for the I. Stephenson Company. The Scheuren Bros., now have a large farm on some of the land logged by Larson Bros. I personally helped cruise part of this in 1906 and know it was a fine hardwood area.

The Mashek Branch was built in 1917 to reach the timber in Town 43 Range 25. Some of the timber also was in the south part of Town 44 Range 25 and west part of Town 43 Range 24. This branch crossed the Escanaba River in Section 13 Town 43 Range 25.

At the time the operations were being carried on along the Kates Branch they used railroad branches over which were operated what were called Lima engines. They could haul over grades and around curves which a road engine could not negotiate. Later the Steam Haulers came into use.

The I. S. Company later bought timber from the Chicago and North Western Railway Company in Towns 43, 44 and 46 Range 23 and 25. These logs were railed in to the mill over the C&NW Ry.

A G. T. Burns was superintendent when I came here. He was succeeded by Mr. R. E. McLean, succeeded by George N. Harder, who was in charge till they closed out. Mr. James Carr was woods superintendent, succeeded by Mr. Louis Harmon, succeeded by Hugh McMillan, succeeded by Fred Hutchison, and the last was Allen Smith.

Lions Plan Big New City On Empty Illinois Prairie

By BERT GOLDRATH

Chicago — (NEA) — Twenty-seven miles south of Chicago's Loop, a new city is about to be born.

Surveying has already begun on "Liondom," a multi-million-dollar project of the International Association of Lions Clubs. Three to four hundred acres of now-vacant prairie will soon sprout forth homes, shops, office buildings, a parking lot and even a cemetery.

Silver-haired Melvin Jones, founder and secretary-general of the organization, says the project "isn't any vision or 'dream city.' It got out of the dream stage long ago and was always more than a gleam in the architect's eye. It's going up—and soon."

Lions international headquarters will remain in downtown Chicago, but the new site will include space for additional offices and storage facilities, a post office and library, motels for visitors, a hotel with banquet rooms, hospitals, schools, colleges, churches, a printing plant and an old people's home. The envisioned cemetery will be known as the "Garden of Memories."

The project grew out of a need for expansion of present headquarters and to provide for member Lions visiting the Chicago area. The Lions' nerve center now employs more than 225 persons, many of whom are expected to make their homes in Liondom. Jones has announced that 1000 of the 7454 clubs in 26 countries are raising $1000 each to help build the model town.

Realizing that America's population is growing at the rate of a million a year, the directors of Lions International conclude that it would be up to employers and groups like their own to provide housing for employees and members.

Low-cost housing is one of the principal goals. Homes in the $10,000-class are under discussion, although no specific plans for homes have so far been adopted. William Bird, publicity director of the Lions, says that building will probably start next year. The Lions will hold their 1950 convention in Chicago and the directors intend to have something concrete to show conventioners, he says.

Already more than $500,000 has been spent for land, and more may be bought. Additional millions will be required for actual building. Negotiations for the property so far acquired were carried on in secret so the price of the land would not skyrocket. At least $38,000 was voluntarily contributed soon after announcement of the Liondom project.

The tract for the new city lies along the Illinois Central suburban tracks, with a switchback and a station at which all I. C. trains stop. The Loop is 47 minutes away by rail. For commuters, a 400-car parking lot by the station will provide the finishing touch.

Delta Supervisors Seek Answer To Welfare And Road Finance Problems

Ending their morning session today on an optimistic note, the Delta county board of supervisors this afternoon were in meeting in an effort to work out welfare and county road finance problems on a county-wide basis.

Discussion this morning indicated the possibility that the townships and cities might get together to pool a part of their sales tax diversion money, amounting to a total of about $240,000 a year, to help finance rising welfare costs and a badly needed road program.

How the plan will be worked out had not been discussed, but there is the possibility that it will be studied by either a special committee or the finance committee and presented to the supervisors for consideration this afternoon.

County Needs Help

C. W. Stoll, chairman of the finance committee, at the morning session advised the board that the county cannot meet the total county relief budget without the assistance of the townships and cities. The finance committee has suggested that the supervisors consider a plan whereby the townships and cities would contribute on the basis of $1.50 per capita.

Supervisor Chester Peak of Ford River and Omer Tanguary of Bark River said that county road costs should also be considered on a county-wide basis, and pointed out that last year the townships and cities had contributed $1 per capita for welfare but the county board had not considered a pro-rated plan to aid the county road commission.

There was considerable discussion of the separate interests of the townships and cities in relief and in roads, until Supervisor Wynand Nieuwenkamp of Gladstone proposed that both problems should be considered on a county-wide basis.

"We need to get our heads together and work out a policy, considering the needs of the whole county," he said.

Supervisor Nevin Reynolds of Escanaba concurred, and added that "we will get no place considering this on a unit by unit basis."

Enough For All

Supervisor Allen T. Mercier of Nahma said he believes there is sufficient sales tax diversion money coming to the cities and townships each year to "care for relief and for roads, and give a little to the schools if they need extra help." This could be accomplished only if the funds are pooled and allocated to the welfare department and road commission to carry out their county-wide programs, he added.

The discussion was provoked by the report of the finance committee in which it was proposed that the townships and cities aid in financing the welfare program.

Finance Chairman Stoll reported that the welfare budget request for 1950 is $82,430 and that the county cannot provide more than $50,000. There will be an overdraft in the welfare budget of $18,000 by the end of this year and the assistance of the townships and cities is necessary if the welfare budget is to be met.

Welfare Costs Higher

Supervisor Harold Gustafson of Ensign, chairman of the board of supervisors and an ex-officio member of the Delta social welfare commission, reported on the factors that have caused a rise in direct relief case load and costs in the county.

Costs have gone up even higher than the case load might indicate, he explained. He cited, as example, that local hospital costs are now $6 per day, and $16 per day for relief patients sent to Ann Arbor for treatment in University hospital.

The county social welfare commission is staying as close to the state recommended food budget as possible, and because of this and the financial straits of the county and the county's effort to help by raising taxable valuations, the state welfare commission is continuing its 15-85 relief cost sharing ratio with Delta. Gustafson said a cost study has been made here and in other Upper Peninsula counties in an effort to find out why the per-capita relief cost in Delta is higher than in adjacent counties. The members of the welfare commission were expected to be at this afternoon's session of the board.

The members of the county road commission were at the morning session of the board but were not called upon. They will be present this afternoon to give information and to urge that the supervisors take some action toward aiding the commission carry out an adequate county road construction and maintenance program.

Linwood I. Noyes In Good Condition After Operation

Ironwood, Mich.—Linwood I. Noyes, editor and publisher of The Daily Globe, underwent thoracoplasty—surgery to collapse the right lung—at the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor Friday. His condition following the operation, which was performed by Dr. John Alexander, was described as "excellent."

The operation was one of several which will be performed to complete the thoracoplasty. The surgery is being done to promote the healing of a tuberculous infection of the upper lobe of the right lung.

Mr. Noyes has been in good condition and excellent spirits since entering the University hospital a few weeks ago, immediately following discovery of the lung condition.

RH Factor Linked To Blood Type

By Science Service
San Francisco—Women whose blood belongs to group A are more likely to be Rh negative and to give birth to babies with the dangerous hemolytic (blood-destroying) disease of the newborn than women whose blood belongs to groups O, B or AB.

Figures showing this are reported by Drs. S. P. Lucia, Marjorie L. Hunt and John C. Talbot of the University of California School of Medicine here in the journal, Science.

Discovery of this relation between Rh sensitization and blood group A was made in the course of studies on more than 11,000 pregnant women during the years 1943-1948.

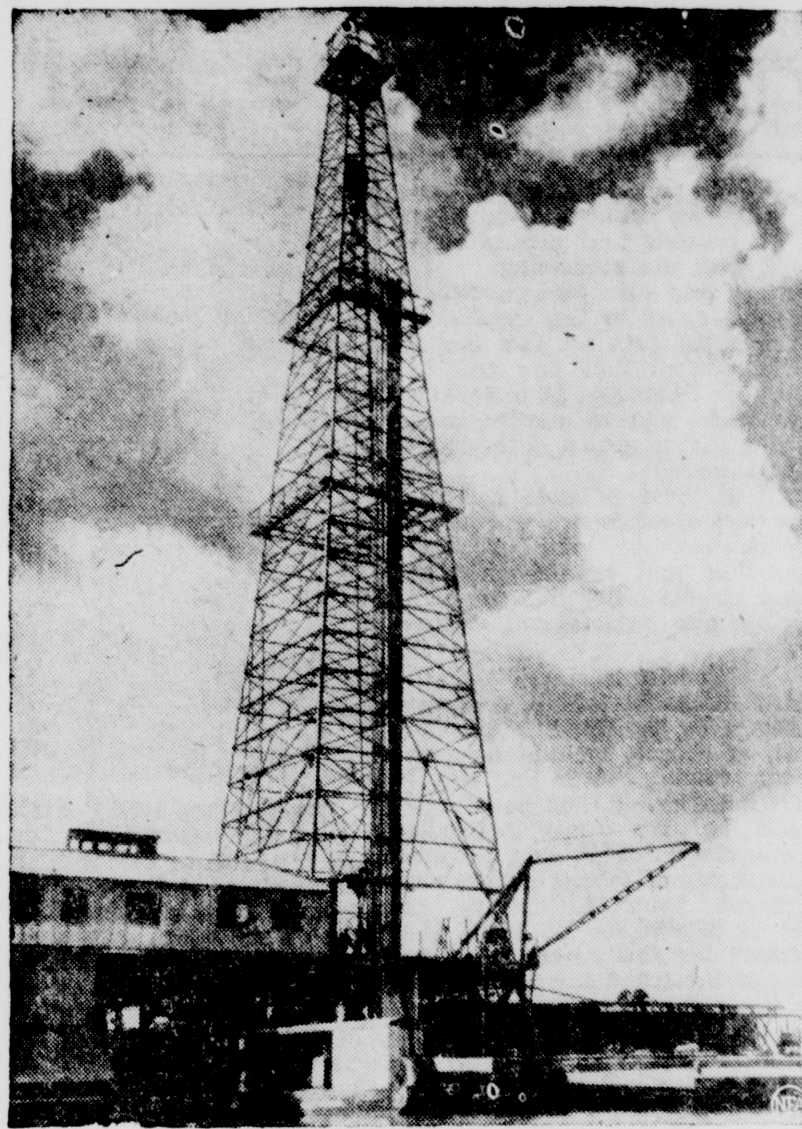

In a sample of 228 sensitized Rh-negative women, 124 bore children afflicted with the disease. Of these 124, more than half, 66, belonged to blood group A. This is more than would be due to chance alone.

Chances Brighten For GOP Control In 1950 Senate

month's special election in New York to keep for another year the seat to which he was appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

If Dulles' opponent, former Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman, wins, the Democrats would start the new year with 12 more Senate members than the GOP.

The Dulles, Miller and Baldwin seats will be at stake in the 1950 elections, bringing to 35 the number of senators to be elected then.

Republicans, who face an uphill battle in their attempt to regain Senate control, welcome the addition of these races where they figure they have some chance of winning from the Democrats. In the last elections in which these three races were involved, the Democrats won two, the Republicans one.

As it stands, the Democrats will have 20 seats at stake next year. But they can count in advance on retaining 11 of them in the south and border states, unless there is a political upheaval not now in sight.

The Republicans, on the other hand, can be reasonably certain of keeping out of the hands of the Democrats only four of the 15 seats they will have at stake in 1950. These 15 include the Dulles and Baldwin places, plus the one they will gain in Idaho.

Thus, to regain the Senate control they lost last year, the Republicans would have to hold all of their 15 and take at least six Democratic posts—seven if Dulles should be defeated next month, to give them the 49 they would need.

The Democrats could lose five without dropping control, since Vice President Barkley's vote would break a tie in their favor even if they had only 48 of the 96 members.

Ingenious Enterprises Started In Minnesota

Washington, D. C.—"Our greatest century? That's the one ahead!" forward-looking Minnesotans told writer Frederick G. Vosburgh when he recently surveyed their state, now celebrating the 100th anniversary of its establishment as a Territory.

But the ingenuity of Minnesotans in the present and past is Vosburgh's main theme in his article, "Minnesota Makes Ideas Pay," in the National Geographic Magazine for September. It is revealed, he shows, by unusual enterprises which dot the state as do its 11,000 lakes.

From Duluth each year, for example, go a million or more little Christmas trees, tons of useless stunted bog spruce. Roy Halvorson, the man with the idea, scouts for new Christmas tree lands in an airplane. He brought $750,000 to Duluth in 1948—and a letter from the State Conservation Commissioner complimenting him on improving the forests.

Burbot Becomes Asset
Far north on the wild international boundary, a neat pharmaceutical plant at Baudette marks the spot where the burbot, voracious consumer of good game fish, now works for man. This repulsive-looking, fresh-water cousin of the cod was long despised. But it has been found to yield a liver oil far richer in vitamins than that of the cod.

Waseca, in southern Minnesota, is the center of a world-wide business in exotic feathers and furs. Plumes of jungle fowl from India, hairs of African orange baboons, moose manes, fox tails, porcupine quills—everything but "eye of newt and toe of frog"—are assembled by George Herter for anglers' use in tying flies that lure fish. Another ingenious Waseca enterprise is the manufacture of two-way radios for police and taxicab fleets.

Abundant limestone supplies cement and rock-wool plants at Mankato. A novel business there, Vosburgh discovered, is the canning of carp in very palatable form. It had long been netted from Minnesota lakes as a nuisance.

In one prairie town a war-born firm trains young farmers as precision instrument makers. In another a man produces "maple" syrup from corn cobs. At Chisholm, on the famous Mesabi Range, the State's "peat for heat" project is aimed at replacing coal brought from the east. Experimentally, it has produced 89 percent iron by reducing low-grade ore with peat.

Rochester Builds Health
From St. Paul, headquarters of two great rail lines of the northwest, Northwest Airlines now spans the continent and plies "north to the Orient." Hibbing, on the Mesabi Range, cradled the nation's Greyhound system of motorbus transportation three decades ago.

The world has beaten a path to Rochester, Minnesota, city of healing, where rises the 20-story tower of the Mayo Clinic. Half a mile of tunnels under downtown streets connect the clinic with hotels and hospitals. In one of the restaurants, a well-placed sign reads: "Of course, we'd dearly love to hear about that perfectly fascinating operation of yours, but not please, while we're eating."

In the Minneapolis telephone book, writer Vosburgh observes, the Johnsons outnumber the Joneses more than ten to one (4,059 names to 392). The Olsons far outstrip the Smiths (1,646 names to 1,080), not counting the Olsens, Olesens, and seven other variations. Twenty-eight column-inches carry names beginning with the Scandinavian "Bj," most numerous of which are the Bjorklunds.

HURT SAVING KITTEN
Niles, (P)—Harold Geideman's attempt to save the life of a kitten nearly cost him his own. Spotting a kitten lying on a highway, the 47-year-old Geideman dashed out to rescue it and was hit by a car. Suffering two broken legs, he was reported in fair condition at Pawating hospital.

Mrs. Anna Haglund, Gladstone, Dies Funeral Tuesday

Gladstone—Mrs. Anna Haglund, 85, widow of Jonas Haglund, died Saturday night at the family home, 601 Dakota avenue. Mrs. Haglund was well-known here having resided in the community since 1885.

Mrs. Haglund was born, Ann Peterson in Phillipstad, Varmland, Sweden on September 27, 1864. She was united in marriage to Jonas Haglund in August of 1890 at Ishpeming and the family came to Gladstone in 1895. She was a member of the First Lutheran Church and of the Ladies' Aid.

To the union were born seven children, Mrs. Louis (Alice) Christianson, Racine; Ernest, Chicago; A. Ehard, Racine; Lloyd, Harry and Carl of Gladstone. The seventh child, a daughter, Mrs. Martin (Ada) Peterson died several years ago. There are also 15 grandchildren, 6 great grandchildren and 3 nieces surviving.

The body was taken to the Kelley funeral home where friends may call this evening. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the funeral home with Rev. Clifford Peterson officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood cemetery. The five sons and a grandson, Harold Haglund, will be the pallbearers.

Michigan Tech Head Predicts Bright Future For Upper Peninsula

Dillman Talks To U. P. Bankers Urges Wise Use Of Area's Resources

The Upper Peninsula has a bright economic future if its people take the fullest advantage of the forest, mineral, agricultural and recreational resources of this region, Grover C. Dillman, president of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, said in an address at the convention of Group One of the Michigan Bankers association here Saturday.

Pointing to the $170,600,000 in bank deposits, Dillman declared there is ample capital for investment in sound and reasonable business and industry in the region. The region also has an ample supply of high grade labor. The speaker devoted most of his address to a discussion of the natural resources that could be utilized to sustain the economy of the Upper Peninsula.

His remarks follow: "There is, I am afraid, a rather widespread misconception to the effect that the natural resources of the peninsula are near exhaustion. We hear statements declaring that the forest products industry is all through because of the devastation of forest lands; we are told that the remaining copper in the peninsula is so deep in the earth that it cannot be mined profitably; we are told that the rich iron ore is about exhausted and that the iron mining industry is approaching the fringes of its activity; we are told that agricultural land is being depleted and that farming henceforth will be on a marginal basis.

Inexhaustible Riches "I think I can say without fear of founded contradiction that none of these things is true. As a matter of fact, the Upper Peninsula not only has vast riches but also counts among its resources several which are virtually inexhaustible—inexhaustible, that is, if proper conservation methods are maintained.

Perhaps the most natural resource which is most misrepresented and least understood is our forest lands. This misconception is based on the past history of lumbering in which it was customary for loggers and sawmill operators to strip off the virgin timber, abandon the land, and move on to new stands for timber. There has been a tendency to think of the timber resource only in terms of large sawlogs. Actually, the forest products industries of the peninsula are widely diversified, and the saw-log is only one of the raw materials yielded by the forest land.

"It is shortsighted to look at the future of the wood industries entirely in terms of board feet and cords of raw material. The true economic resource is the timber-growing land. The forest and the industries dependent upon it are a dominant economic factor in the state.

"The facts show, furthermore, that our timberland resources are, in the main, being well managed from a conservation standpoint. Over forty percent of the timberland is in public ownership and is dedicated to the continuous production of tree crops. Private ownership of forest land is remarkably stable in contrast to the cut-and-get-out policy that existed in the past.

Forests Reproduce "Contrary to popular belief, the harvesting of forest lands does not depend upon a long and expensive program of reforestation. While reforestation is an important part of land conservation, vast areas continue to produce marketable wood by self-propagation. Owners and taxpayers on the five million acres of private forest are not thinking of the resource in terms of virgin timber.

"Virgin hardwood timber represents only eight-and-a-half percent of the total forest land area in the Upper Peninsula, and only forty-three percent of the total cubic foot wood-volume. For the future, we should look to the fifty-seven percent of the cubic foot volume found in other forest types. Already significant advances in the utilization of these types have been made, and well organized programs of research are underway to develop more complete utilization.

"In 1947 the State Legislature gave its attention to the specific problems of the northern timber areas by authorization of, and appropriation for, a Forest Products Research function at the College in Houghton. It was specified that the work should be of a practical nature and aimed at early industrial application.

"It was further specified that the college should be guided by industry representatives through a Forest Products Research Advisory Committee. The fifteen-man committee, of which Mr. Abbott Fox is chairman, helped to plan and has approved the research program, including the selection of the projects, and periodically reviews the progress of the work done by the technical staff.

"Several of the projects have been concluded and others are now being carried on. Among the current projects are those in the field of hardwood pulping, utilization of low-grade hardwood lumber, study of new methods of logging, and research into possible new processes adaptable to peninsula conditions.

"In addition to the Forest Products Research Division at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, the University and the Michigan State College are conducting studies in related phases of conservation and utilization of forest resources.

Forest Industry Helps "Perhaps the most significant thing about this broad program of forest products research—and the most encouraging thing as far as the future of forest industries in the Upper Peninsula is concerned—is the fact that the forest industry itself initiated the research program and has maintained a very active interest in it. There is evident a desire on the part of the industry to become firmly established in this area, to adjust itself to changing conditions, and to expand on the basis of new technical developments.

"With this attitude on the part of the forest industry and with proper conservation practices, the industry is likely to be a permanent one in the peninsula, just as the forest lands will be an inexhaustible natural resource. The minerals industries, on the other hand, may not last forever; but for the next few decades, certainly, mining and allied activities in the Upper Peninsula will be a major factor in our economy.

"Nearly 95 percent of the total value of mineral production in Michigan comes from ten mineral resources: iron ore, copper, salt, gypsum, petroleum, coal, clay products, stone, sand, and gravel. Of these resources, the Upper Peninsula contains all but gypsum, petroleum, and coal. The production of copper and iron, the two metals in the minerals group, accounts for 50 percent of the entire minerals production in Michigan. It is true that the non-metals in the peninsula, with the exception of limestone, are not a major economic factor.

Mineral Resources "Our immediate economic future in the minerals industries field rests, of course, with iron ore and copper production. Production, in turn, depends to a great extent upon the ore available. First, let us examine the situation as far as iron ore is concerned.

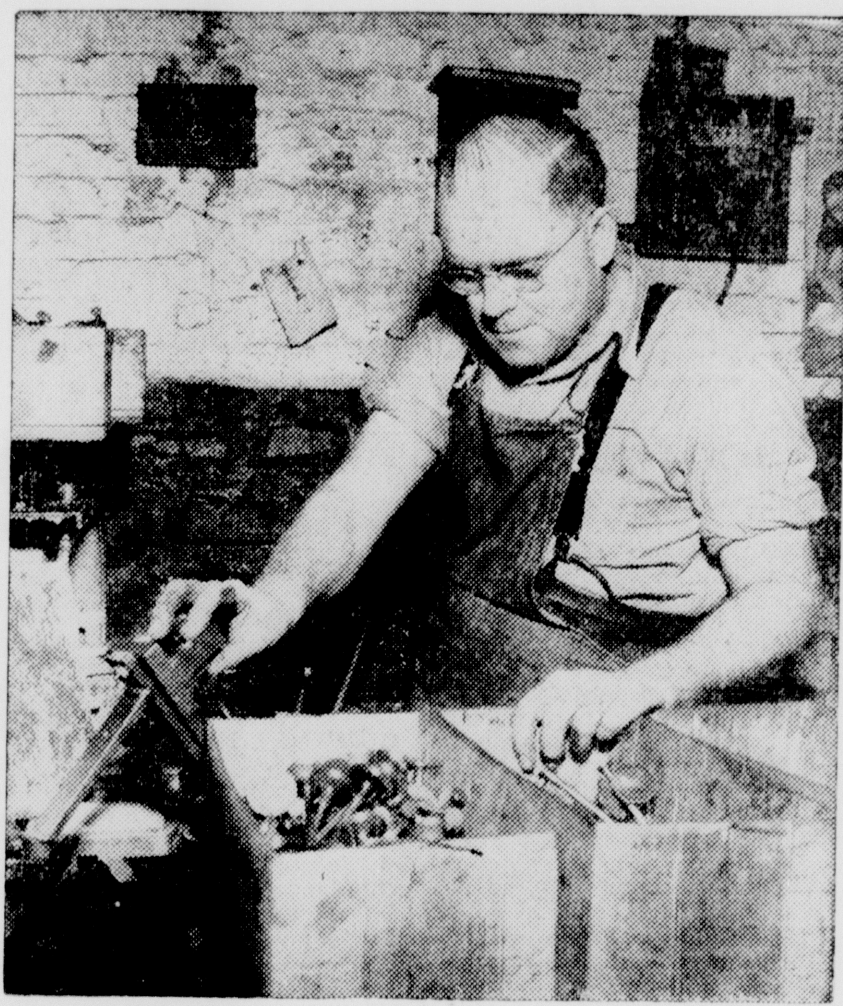

"Present reserves estimated at 153,000,000 tons are enough for about twelve years production at the present annual rate of 13 million tons. From past experience we know that new discoveries should supply two-thirds of the annual shipments. This means that Michigan should be able to maintain its present rate of production for the next thirty years.

"Perhaps even more important than the known iron ore reserves are the billions of tons of low-grade iron formations. It has long been realized that high-grade deposits would not last forever; and the mining industry and research organizations have been working on the problems of mining and refining the low-grade ores economically and profitably.

"The State Geological Survey, in cooperation with the United States Geological Survey, is making a thorough study of the geological and geophysical phases of the problem. The Michigan College of Mining and Technology now maintains a research program devoted to the beneficiation of the low-grade ores.

"The mining companies themselves sometime ago initiated extensive exploration programs, making full use of air prospecting and magnetometer work. Two of them have set up research laboratories to study the problem, and it is likely that the pilot plant stage will be reached reasonably soon.

"In the mining industry it is an accepted fact that at the present time enough is known technologically to postulate iron ore production, at the current annual rate, for a hundred years to come. Economically there are still problems to solve. Michigan ore must compete on the market with ore from other sources. Consequently, economic methods of mining and concentration of the low-grade ores must be achieved, and an equitable relationship between management and the labor force must be maintained.

HANDICAPPED BUT WORKS — Harold Smith, 420 South 18th Street, Escanaba, is one of the handicapped individuals who is an example of what "National Employ The Physically Handicapped Week" is striving to attain.

Smith suffered severe burns and a resulting loss of his left leg in an industrial accident in Escanaba in December 1944 when a mold exploded spraying molten iron on his leg. He was hospitalized until May 1945 and returned to the hospital subsequently. In November 1946, with the assistance of the Employment Service, he secured work with the Northern Motor Rebuilders, where he is a valve grinder operator.

He was unable to return to his previous work as an all around machinist after the accident. Mr. Smith is able to do his present work and likes his job. His employer, the Northern Motor Rebuilders, is entirely satisfied with Mr. Smith's work and states that he does his job just as well as any able-bodied worker could.

"These economic problems will, I am sure, be solved. So both technologically and economically, the future of the iron mining industry in the Upper Peninsula is assured.

"In the popular mind, at least, the copper picture is considerably less bright than the iron ore outlook. As I have mentioned before, there is a widespread belief that copper production in Michigan is almost finished. Facts, however, definitely do not support this belief.

"It is an actual fact that with known and, to some extent, developed reserves, the copper industry could produce 125 million pounds of copper per year for a period of thirty years. This, of course, would depend upon a price level which would make possible large investments of capital to develop these reserves and bring them into production.

C. & H. Develops Resources

"At the present time the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper Company has in developed reserves 200 million pounds of recoverable copper. These reserves are those which are easily accessible and can be mined without sinking any additional shafts. Furthermore, the conglomerate workings of Calumet and Hecla, which were allowed to fill with water in 1939 because of a severe drop in the price level, hold much copper which could be readily mined if the workings were dewatered.

"The White Pine property of the Copper Range Mining Company, according to reliable geologists and mining engineers, can, if developed, produce a total of 3,520,000,000 pounds of copper. The overall picture of the copper reserves, then, is an impressive one, the known reserves amounting to a total of 3,731,500,000 pounds.

"This is a potential, of course. The realization of it depends upon a price level sufficient to sustain production. The price level might well be part of a national policy embracing exploration for, and conservation of, critical metals to the economy.

Farming Opportunities

"The production of potatoes, one of the area's major cash crops, has been growing steadily and has a bright future. There has been a constant development in potato warehousing and marketing, and with our climatic advantages and our seed improvement program we should become one of the major production areas in the country.

"Perhaps one of our greatest opportunities for agricultural development lies in the area of specialty crops. For example, the growing of strawberries is becoming increasingly important in some areas, and because of our seasonal advantage we can produce quality berries for a late market which is never oversupplied. Another encouraging example is the production of barley. The barley produced is of high quality.

"Our agricultural-minded population knows, incidentally, that barley, cloverseed, wheat, and peas grown in the Upper Peninsula have consistently taken first prizes in competition with products of other mid-west areas. There certainly must be opportunities for increased production of these crops.

"Still another agricultural opportunity, it would seem, is the growing of crops for canning and the erection of more canning factories. Because of our long hours of summer daylight and our comparatively cool nights, canning crops stay at their prime for a longer period of time. If those crops could be cultivated on a larger scale and processed in our own area, we could take advantage of payrolls and profits connected with the processing.

"There may also be agricultural opportunities in the expansion of the sugar beet and flax crops. At the present time one area of the Upper Peninsula is importing sugar beets, and in another area the flax that is grown is used only for the seed.

"All of these possible agricultural developments are worthy of consideration by our farming population and by the agencies whose responsibility it is to help develop our agricultural economy.

Tourist Business

"Any discussion of the economic future of the Upper Peninsula must, of course, include mention of our growing tourist and recreation industry. It has been estimated by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau that the annual income of tourist dollars has increased from $25,000,000 in 1941 to $50,000,000 in 1948; the estimate for the current year, in spite of the trend toward tightening up in the spending of recreation money, is still $50,000,000.

"In all likelihood, we have by no means reached our peak period of development in the tourist industry. As we provide more and better accommodations for tourists and vacationists, we shall see a growth in our dollar income. We particularly need improvements in the quality of our tourist accommodations. We do not have enough first-class hotels, cabins, motor courts, and other facilities to attract people and create in them a desire to come back year after year.

"We need major developments in year-round tourist attractions. As long as we are dependent upon tourist dollars spent during the short summer season, we cannot realize the dollar income that is possible. Even considering our comparative remoteness from the centers of population, we can, with proper promotion, become a winter sports area comparable to others in the nation.

"Notable examples of what can be done in the promotion of winter sports are afforded by the Iron Mountain and Ishpeming areas. The Copper Country is becoming a popular winter sports area and present plans for the Porcupine Mountain country are promising. But we must have, of course, winterized facilities, and we must have the wholehearted cooperation of all those who are interested in the welfare of Upper Michigan.

"I would like to mention briefly one resource, in which the Upper Peninsula is rich, which is too often neglected in a survey of economic development. That resource is the combined educational facilities. Institutions of higher learning, through their contributions to education and research, raise the level of understanding and seek out new knowledge and truth which helps to make possible new goods and services. It is axiomatic that an educated public has an excellent chance of being a prosperous public.

"Whatever the educational facilities in the Upper Peninsula may contribute to our general educational level will indirectly contribute to our economic level. Our public school systems are excellent ones and compare favorably with those in any part of the State. At Marquette there is the Northern Michigan College of Education which provides an excellent training for teachers who will maintain the high standards in our public schools.

"The Michigan College of Mining and Technology is recognized as one of the outstanding colleges of science and engineering in the country and does, we feel, make a significant contribution to technical development.

"Cognitive Junior College in Ironwood affords educational opportunities beyond the secondary school level to a great many young men and women who might not otherwise have them. More popular places might well consider the junior college plan. As a matter of fact, any educational endeavor, whether it be on the college level or the vocational level, will contribute to the development of the Peninsula.

Luring New Industries

"Thus far I have not mentioned the one economic factor which, in the minds of many people, will constitute the only salvation of Upper Peninsula economy. That is the procurement of new business and industry. It is true that new industries have been established in the Upper Peninsula area, as witness the City of Escanaba, and have made definite contributions to the economy. It is also true that every community in the Peninsula should make every effort to attract new business activities; we must realize that we are competing for new enterprises with other areas in the state and with other states, and that the competition is keen. In short, we must extend every effort to promote the advantages we have to offer.

"These advantages are likely to be most attractive to comparatively small industries, and as far as economic stability is concerned, small and diversified industries are desirable. In areas where the sole, or principal, employer is a single large industrial activity shutdowns or lay-offs can seriously cripple the local economy.

"We must recognize also that our comparative remoteness presents some difficulties in attracting new industries. Our distance from marketing centers is a major problem, and it brings into focus

BROTHERS MEET AGAIN—When John Hjort, 72, arrived here a week ago from Fresno, Calif., it was exactly 51 years since he had seen his brother, James Hjort, 79, of 1512 First avenue south. John, who has lived in Fresno, Calif., since leaving his native Kolding, Denmark, in 1891, last saw his brother while on a visit in Escanaba in 1890, when he was 20 years old. Both brothers are in good health. While they were together again, they had fun reminiscing on their childhood in Denmark. Both have sisters and brothers there, and have not seen them since they left before the turn of the century. John, who was accompanied here by his wife and daughter Helen and Mrs. Charles Miley, left today to return to Fresno. England Is Mess, Says Rep. Bennett

By C. YATES McDANIEL

Washington—(AP)—Congressman Bennett of Ontario returned from Europe with a gloomy word picture of what Great Britain is "doing to herself."

The Upper Peninsula Republican went abroad with a congressional group to study state medical programs, particularly Britain's universal health scheme.

He saw enough there, in Sweden, France and Germany, he told a reporter to reach the discouraging conclusion that British economy is in worse shape than any of the others.

"There is little we can do for England unless we underwrite all her schemes, socialistic and otherwise," he said. "But if we did," he added, "what would be the end of it all for the United States?"

Recalling his meeting with British health minister Aneurin Bevan, Bennett said that he felt sorry for England.

Bennett reached two basic conclusions from his studies in Britain:

1. Universal state medicine can't work except as an integral part of a socialized state.

2. Britain's socialist government justifies what it is doing on the ground that a central bureaucracy can spend a person's money better than he can spend it himself.

Bennett said these observations summed up his reasons for opposing Truman administration schemes.

He cited the British experience to back his stand.

"The British soon got entirely away from their starting proposition that a certain number of people needed medical attention," Bennett said.

Bennett traced the expansion of the British scheme from what he was told by health minister Bevan and others who are administering the undisguised socialist scheme.

Country Discouraging From giving direct medical treatment, the scheme soon extended to include government control of the manufacture of dentures, eye glasses and hearing aids.

Bennett said Bevan frankly stated that it would probably "be the need for more adequate transportation facilities and services—by rail, by highway, by air, and by water. To a considerable extent, our industrial prosperity depends upon the free flow of freight and passengers within, and into and out of, the Peninsula.

"We must remember, however, that our economic future cannot depend solely, or even primarily, upon the procurement of new business enterprises. Our future prosperity lies in the wise conservation and utilization of our natural resources.

"The people of the Upper Peninsula must be resourceful enough to unite in a common effort to produce and develop what we have. We must be open-minded enough to recognize the many possibilities; and we must be optimistic enough to discount and discredit the pessimists who say that our resources are nearly exhausted.

"We need to think clearly, yet realistically; to have vision; to exhibit that determination to overcome obstacles which was so well demonstrated by the pioneers in Upper Michigan.

"We want our economy to grow and expand, and we want this peninsula to be a good place for our children and our children's children, as it has been for us.

"If we can recognize the riches that we have, and if we can summon the determination and the vigor to take advantage of those riches, we need have no fear for the economic future of the Upper Peninsula."

Coal Diggings Close To Halt Gun Battles

Birmingham, Alabama—(AP)—The Preskitt coal mine, scene of a gun battle last week, will remain closed until the end of the coal strike.

S. O. Preskitt, one of six brothers who operate the small, non-union strip mine, made the announcement.

"We are closing down because we cannot get any assurance of protection from any law enforcement agencies," Preskitt said.

The mine, in adjoining Walker county, was the scene of an hour and a half gun battle Wednesday a week ago between eight defenders and an armed band.

It had continued in operation after the nation-wide walkout of union miners. The mine was closed down after the battle, in which a union miner was wounded.

Housewives Divided In Handout Quiz

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Do American housewives want government handouts?

Well—Yes and no. The girls are as divided on this question as on any other.

A few days ago I wrote a piece pointing out that legislatures have sadly overlooked the most important figure in our civilization—the housewife.

They fret about the problems of the businessman, set limits to the stint of the laboring man, and vote cash on the barrel head to protect the farmer against rainy days. But for the woman with the mop, the lady of the house, they have voted no 40-hour week, no cash subsidies, no benefit payments, no bonuses for raising the nation's chief crop—children.

Well, should Congress and President Truman set up a new cabinet post—secretary of the home? Should housewives get pensions?

Scores of ladies across the land dropped their dust cloths, sat down and wrote me how they felt. And their answer as to whether the government owed them anything boiled down to this:

1—"Yes, of course."

2—"No, naturally."

One mother wrote objecting "to the prevailing sense of values which excludes from economic consideration the work of the home woman." Her idea was that mothers mold the character of future citizens, and should be paid in some way by the state for this important function.

An Illinois wife observed:

"The housewife should be considered by the government. Possibly a pension plan or a week's holiday at the government's expense to do a little traveling. Of course I would suggest a set time for the pensions to start—after 25 years of faithful devotion."

On the other hand, Mrs. Irene Pilackas of Chicago Heights, Ill., said flatly:

"We absolutely do not want any handouts from Washington."

"We'd be sure to lose not only our independence to clean house how and when we please, what to cook, when to spunk, what to say to the better half, but we'd have to pay some jerk 5 per cent for telling us off."

"The woman who has children and a home never mopes or is frustrated. We're too busy. We don't want any special recognition. We reap our rewards as we go along."

And besides, said Mrs. Pilackas, "we are the power behind the throne, and that's where we intend to stay."

"So—please leave the American housewife alone, or we'll start a down-with-Hal Boyle movement—and then you'll be sorry."

Yes, ma'am! I'll! Who brought the subject up anyway?

Young Hunters Violating Law

Chief Of Police Issues Warning

Chief of Police Torval Kallerson issued warning Saturday that youths found hunting in violation of the law will be taken into custody and dealt with in accordance with the law.

Chief Kallerson said that many young boys are hunting along the bluff without the company of a parent or guardian or some adult assigned to accompany them by either the parent or guardian.

He also pointed out that many of the youngsters are hunting and shooting inside the city limits which is prohibited by law. In some instances the boys have fired shots inside yards of homes within city limits.

Cooperation of parents in curbing the practice is asked by Chief Kallerson.

She reached San Francisco last December.

ALL OF A SUDDEN IT COLLAPSED—The wonderful one-hoss shay had nothing on this 50-year-old bridge near Stockton, Calif., except an extra fifty years. The 70-foot steel bridge just collapsed, for no apparent reason, and with no one on it at the time. Evidently it had just used up its allotted span. When the photographer found it, it was being used as a romping ground by a small boy and his dog.

FROZEN FRONTIER

World's Most Powerful Nations Face Each Other Across Arctic

With President Truman's recent disclosure of an atomic explosion in Russia, the vast frozen wastes of the Arctic take on new importance as America's most strategic line of defense. The polar map above points out locations of major American and Canadian installations on the common northern frontier, stretching from Attu in the Aleutians to Newfoundland and Greenland. Most of the Canadian bases fly both U. S. and Canadian flags; joint airfields are known to be as near the Pole as Resolute Bay and Eureka Sound. Hub of Russia's northern military defense system is believed to be Tiksi (A), a newly-built city of possibly 100,000 located only 400 miles from Nome and 500 miles from Resolute Bay. Its eastern anchors are Vladivostok (B), Russia's principle Pacific port, and Petropavlovsk (C), submarine, naval and air base built largely since the end of World War II. Western anchors include Franz Josef Land (D), site of Red air bases, and Norwegian-controlled Spitzbergen (E), where the Russians have important mining interests and many nationals. Vital lifeline of the Soviet Arctic frontier is the 5,000-mile Trans-Siberian railway (F). The Lake Baikal area (G) is its principal Arctic depot. From there, supplies go north to Tiksi over the Lena River (H), an ice highway for most of the year. Also vital is the Arctic shipping route (I) from Arkhangelsk (J) to Tiksi. Other strategic points in the Soviet Arctic military system include: the Komandorski Islands (K), site of the important naval base of Nikolskoe; Sakhalin Island (L), which Russia got from Japan for her belated entry in the Pacific war; the Siberian coastal jet fighter base area (M), including Wrangel Island (N), also a jet base; Okhotsk Sea Coast (O), where the Reds have a research center, and Little Koldeweiy Island (P), where the Germans held Greenlandic bases during World War II. In manpower, the Russians outnumber us in the Arctic 10 to one.

Drunken Driving Lands Two Men In Justice Court

Mark A. Pond, of Gulliver and Milton E. Carson, of Manistique, were arraigned before Judge W. G. Stephens Saturday morning, the former charged with driving a car under the influence of liquor and the latter with allowing an intoxicated person to drive his car.
The two were picked up by a city police officer late Friday evening after the vehicle in which they had been riding collided with a parked car. Damage done is said to be slight.
Pond pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was given the alternative of paying a fine of $50, costs of $5 or going to jail for a period corresponding to the size of the fine. He was not able to pay his fine and was taken to the county jail where he is now serving sentence.
Carson entered a plea of not guilty and was released after he had posted bond of $100 to assure his appearance in court when he will be required to stand trial. Trial was set for Wednesday of this week.

President Could Have Averted Steel Tieup, Rep. Hartley Declares

Battle Creek, Mich. — President Truman could have averted the steel strike if he had followed the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, former Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr., (R-N. J.) believes.
The co-author of the federal labor law said the president's "basic mistake" was in having the special steel fact-finding panel submit recommendations instead of facts only.
The Taft-Hartley Act calls for a report without recommendations he said.
"If the steel strike and coal tieup can not be settled under existing labor law machinery and they continue to the point where they threaten the public welfare and safety," Hartley said, "then the Clayton and Sherman Anti-Trust Act should be brought to bear on the union for actions in restraint of trade."

Master Of Noronic Gets Reprimand For Faulty Fire Alarm

Toronto—(P)—Capt. William Taylor, master of the cruise ship Noronic, was reprimanded by a Canadian government commissioner Thursday for not thinking of getting more passengers ashore when fire engulfed the ship Sept. 17.

Capt. Taylor told the commissioner, Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, that other than shouting and banging on cabin windows he made no other effort to rouse passengers and assist them from the blazing ship.

"What were you thinking of?" asked Mr. Justice Kellock. "Why did you not realize, since you knew the fire was beyond control, you should do all you could to help passengers ashore?"

"I tried to make as much noise as I could," the captain said. He added that he went about wielding the nozzle end of a hose and broke windows of cabins in which flames showed.

Reynolds-Page Combine Too Much For Bums :

Joe Puts Out Raschi Fire In 10-6 Final Jolt

Brooklyn, Oct. 10 (AP)—The New York Yankees, Ol' Casey Stengel's "invalids of destiny," won the world series from the startled Brooklyn Dodgers for several reasons—but the most important was the Reynolds-Page bullpen combination.

Because he had the right relief men when he needed them most, Stengel led his assorted cripples to the winners' share of the jackpot—$5,884 for each Yankee.

Pitching usually tells the story of a short series. It was no different in the five-game 1949 set. Only this time it was the relief work of Allie Reynolds and Fireman Joe Page that stood out after record-breaking games.

Other Stars, Sure

Certainly there were other stars. Bobby Brown for his .500 batting average, Johnny Mize for his 1,000 pinch hitting, Tommy Henrich for the homer that won the opener and Little Phil Rizzuto for his superlative shortstop play.

But way out front there were the two "big" men of the Yankees' 12th series triumph in 16 tries—Reynolds and Page. Page, of course, ran true to form. Hadn't he made the trip from the bullpen 60 times during the regular season, 20 of them to save Reynolds?

Reynolds' brilliant performance of no runs and only two hits in 12 1/3 innings was a direct right-about-face. "Old Wahoo" completed but four games in 31 starts. He even got the opening assignment on sort of a rain check.

Originally Stengel expected to send Ed Lopat out last Wednesday. He shifted to Reynolds the day before the game. Not even the dream books can do that good.

Allie threw his two-hitter, 1-0, in nullifying Don Newcombe's 11 strikeouts with nine of his own. Preacher Roe blanked the Yankees' Vic Raschi the next afternoon. Then the bullpen corporation took over.

It was Page with a 5 2/3 inning "stopper" after Tommy Byrne went bad in the third game. Reynolds bailed out Lopat by retiring the last 10 men in succession in the fourth.

Things ended normally at Ebbets field yesterday afternoon, with Page armbaling in to finish what Raschi started. Working with only two days rest, like Newcombe in Saturday's sad effort, Raschi crumbled in the Dodger seventh. A 10-2 lead melted to 10-6.

There was nobody on when Page walked in. Normally the joint is jumping. But Gil Hodges had just unloaded a three-run homer as a parting shot to Raschi. The Fireman was all alone. Boss Burt Shotton sent up Luis Olmo. A righthanded batter, for Dodger Marv Rackley, a lefthander. Three hopping fast balls and the side was out.

Fast One Good Enough

Nobody knew it until Page told it after the game, but Smokey Joe was throwing only fast balls because he injured his hand Friday. It didn't make much difference.

The high hand was plenty hard. Pinch hitter Bruce Bozards singled with one gone in the eighth. The next batter, Pee Wee Reese hit a come-back ball to Page, who started a double play.

Page didn't let up in the ninth. He ended matters with a flourish. Following a menacing pinch double by Eddie Miksis, he whiffed Duke Snider, the most striking man in the series, and fanned Jackie Robinson. He lost Gene Hermanski on a walk. Gil Hodges worked the count to 2-2 and beat the breeze on the next. That was all.

It was all over but the post mortems. They were brief, too. "That last week was tough for both clubs," said Stengel in the clubhouse; "they had to beat the Phillies; we had the Red Sox. We had just enough to last five games more, that's all."

Shotton was philosophical about the whole thing. Most of the Dodgers seemed glad it was all over.

"They have got a little bit more what you need in a world series," said Shotton, "but, we'll be better when we meet them next fall."

The consensus was that the Dodgers would have to be better by next fall if they're going to win. They gave it plenty of hustle, but their pitching just wasn't deep enough.

Detroit Man Cops U. S. Walking Title

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Winning National AAU Walking championships is an old thing for William Mihalo of Detroit.

The 34-year-old heel and toe artist Sunday won his 22nd title—the 30,000 meter race over a Staten Island course. He set a new course record of two hours 55 minutes.

Army Stuns Football World By Upsetting Michigan By 21 To 7

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 10 (AP)—The upset of the week, maybe of the 1949 football season, was still the prime subject of discussion here today as Michigan prepared to make its conference debut against Northwestern Saturday.

Debut or no debut, though, it's still the Army's 21-7 victory over Michigan's then-mythical National champions, that has the sideline quarterbacks gabbing a mile a minute.

And while the second guessers argue whether certain strategies won or lost the game and broke Michigan's 25-game victory chain, there's a different attitude in the Wolverine camp.

Disappointment? Sure, it's written on the face of practically every member of Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's squad. But with it is the realization that the spirited Cadet team won decisively with a brilliant display of line play, the tremendous work of its running backs and above all, the superb all around quarterbacking of Arnold Galiffa, the Army's ready signal caller.

Army Was Sharp

The Wolverines credit Army with the kind of ball game every club would like to play.

"They were sharper than we were," the Michigan coach agrees. "They were sharper on offense and defense."

But he takes a measure of pride and high hopes for the future from the fact that the boys realize that.

Also realized now is the fact that the constant expectation of extending a big victory string tends to act as a stop on the emotional heights to which a team can rise. The opponent has a better chance to attain the necessary height.

Michigan's disappointment was cut somewhat by the report that Chuck Ortmann, Wolverine passing star who left the game on a stretcher after the second play, was not seriously hurt.

The blond passer from Milwaukee, Wis., suffered a light concussion and was taken immediately to the university's health service.

Dr. Edgar Kahn, noted brain surgeon associated with Michigan's medical school, checked Ortmann over and pronounced him fit for a return to duty.

After resting a night in health service, the boy was released. Trainer Jim Hunt, who reported no other injuries beyond the expected bumps and bruises, said Ortmann would probably be out today and begin the process of "moving into the routine slowly."

It is expected the passing star would be able to play against Northwestern Saturday.

Long after the details are forgotten, the Wolverines will remember that Cadet squad of Earl Red) Blaik, that stepped into Michigan Stadium as an underdog and then dominated the first half to establish a 14-0 lead.

Worse Since 1945

Michigan came back after the half with a better performance and punched out one touchdown and appeared set to grab a second. The second failed, Army threw one in for good measure and Michigan has taken the worst point licking since the 1945 Navy team whipped them 33-7.

The Wolverines actually edged the Cadets on the ground, picking up 187 yards to their 171. But Army's gains came when needed while Michigan's yardage was partially eaten up by two drives of better than 50 yards each that never reached the Army end zone.

The difference came in the all-around sharp play of the Army squad. With Galiffa throwing unerringly, ends Bill Kellum and Dan Foldberg catching as well, near-brilliant line play and the superior running of Karl Kuckhahn and Him Cain.

Michigan looked in good shape when Walt Teninga, who played a fine all-around game, punted out of bounds on the Army 11 in the first period.

But Galiffa directed a 10-play show that shocked the sellout crowd of 97,239.

With Kuckhahn ripping through the Michigan line and connecting on three of three passes to Kellum and moved quickly to the Michigan five yard line where halfback Frank Fischl went over standing up.

Jack Mackmull converted as he did the other two Army tallies. Army scored again in the second period when Michigan's quarterback John Ghindia, fumbled on the Wolverine 10. Cain went in from there on one play.

No Pass Catches

Michigan raised hopes briefly when Don Dufek, scored in the fourth to cap a third period drive that began on the Army 31 when the Cadet punter, Tom Brown, dropped a pass from center. Michigan took over on downs and went the distance in 10 plays.

Harry Allis converted. Army got up steam again late in the fourth period to roll 30 yards in two plays to score, Kuckhahn making the last seven yards.

The loss of Ortmann and the apparent inability of the Michigan flankers to catch passes hurt. Sheared of its passing game, the Michigan squad turned to ground play with Leo Koceski, Teninga ad Dufek each turning in a highly creditable performance.

But it wasn't enough. Galiffa cinched his role as hero of the third meeting between the two schools, all of which have been won by Army.

3 Spartans Hospitalized After Win Over Maryland

East Lansing, Oct. 10 (AP)—Michigan State's hard fought 14-7 victory over Maryland Saturday swelled the casualty list of the Spartan roster.

The bruising ball game landed three of the MSC varsity in the hospital.

Sophomore quarterback Bob Ciolek, who had to be carried out of the game, is in the college infirmary with a sprained ligament in his left knee. Team physician Dr. Charles F. Holland said it was unlikely that Ciolek would be ready to play in by William and Mary game next Saturday.

End Dorne Dibble also is hospitalized, with a pulled thigh muscle, but is expected to be back at practice before the week is out. Tackle Carl Cappaert has a hand in a cast as he broke a knuckle in the fight, but is expected to be able to report for the workouts.

With Ciolek in the hospital, senior quarterback Gene Glick probably will have to work most of the William and Mary contest.

The MSC coaches were thankful that Glick had recovered from the knee injury that sidelined him earlier this season and that he was able to start against Maryland.

Detroit Lions Are Sad, Disconsolate Over Loss To Pitt

Detroit, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Detroit Lions were none too happy today after dropping a 14-7 decision Saturday night to the Pittsburgh Steelers, one of the clubs the Lions were figured to beat this year.

Newberry Upsets Gladstone, 26-6

Gladstone, Oct. 10—An alert, hard-driving, hard charging band of Newberry Indians knocked the Gladstone Braves from the ranks of undefeated and untied Upper Peninsula football teams at Marble Athletic Field here Saturday afternoon with a decisive 26-6 victory.

Newberry won the toss, chose to receive and started right out to take the upper hand. Sticking strictly to the ground, with Roy Gustafson and "Ace" McDonald totting the ball and aided by aggressive line play the Indians rolled up a series of first downs to get into scoring territory before the Braves held and took over. Several plays later, Newberry had its first touchdown when a Gladstone back missed the pass from center and it was recovered behind the Gladstone goal line by Center Tom Taylor. McDonald tried to run right end for the extra point but failed.

After the kickoff, some midfield battling and exchange of kicks, Newberry got the ball on Gladstone's 40 and again it was McDonald and Gustafson and only a brilliant goal line stand by the Braves halted the drive one foot from another touchdown.

Brave Push In 3rd
Gladstone was forced to kick and then Villeneuve passed from the 35 to Gustafson who went for what was an apparent touchdown but the play was nullified by a penalty on Newberry. They

Two Breaks Favor Norway At Outset

Muddy Field Melee Is Hard Fought

But for two breaks in the first quarter that gave Norway a 13-0 lead until early in the final quarter, Vikings' 26-0 triumph over the St. Joseph's Trojans of Escanaba in the rain at Memorial field Saturday night might have been a different story.

The Trojans were up for this game and held the Vikings scoreless in the second and third quarters. In fact, they played the invaders off their feet at the outset of the second half until a steady rainfall following intermittent spurts in the first half made the field (softball infield, remember) a quagmire of mud and drenched both players and spectators the rest of the evening.

St. Joe lost this game to a team that ranks with the best in the U. P. this season, but in losing the Trojans lost no honor. They played valiantly all the way and given a break here and there and a bit more strength at key positions for more sustained efforts, they might have upset the Vikings.

Miron Gets Help
Again, big Jack Miron was in on another fourth of the Trojan tactics, and his offensive work was equally outstanding, but he got help Saturday night from a determined band of Trojans. The forwards functioned particularly

DiMag Still Greatest Yankee Of Them All

Brooklyn, Oct. 10 (P)—He batted an anemic .111. Twice he fell sprawling going after balls hit to centerfield. In thumbing through the record for the hero of the 46th world series you wouldn't stop at the name of Joe DiMaggio.

But don't try to tell that to the 30-odd members of New York's new world baseball champion. To the Yankees, Joe is the greatest hero of them all.

"He was wonderful," said the skipper, crusty old Casey Stengel. "You'll never realize what that fellow means to our team. Just being out there, he was a big boost to our boys, a sort of mental hazard to the other side."

Through the Joe DiMaggio first four games he was a pathetic figure as he took his place at the plate and weakly fanned or popped out.

The crowds, even the enemy Brooklynites, throughout the series, however, paid him tribute due to a great champion. He always drew the loudest applause of all, and never a "boo."

Yesterday for the first time during the set DiMaggio looked like the jolter of old. He smashed a home run into the lower leftfield stands and nailed two other blows that failed only because of amazing stabs by Duke Snider, the Dodger fly hawk.

"I still didn't hit any of them right, not even the home run," Joe said afterwards. "I couldn't get my bat around."

He was still weak from a virus infection when he returned to the lineup for the important series with the Boston Red Sox, which the Yankees won to clinch the pennant.

"The boys all insisted that Joe play," Stengel said. "I was glad, too, when he said he was ready."

"Joe did as much as any other single man to help us win. It was great of him to play feeling as he did. He was playing on nerves."

DiMaggio, pleased as punch over that fourth inning home run yesterday, said it gave him one of the biggest "kicks" he's got out of baseball.

"I don't feel well yet," Joe said. "I think it'll take me another month to get back in shape. I'm going home about the first of next month—to California—and rest. And I mean rest. My heel doesn't bother me any more. I'll be like new next spring."

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

Verily, 'twas a weekend of football upsets. Before ushering you into the anything-but-placid Upper Peninsula scene, we point out these upheavals in the national grid picture—

Army over Michigan, 21-7, to snap a 25-game winning streak and prevent the Wolverines from tying Cornell for the all-time modern collegiate consecutive win record of 26.

And professionally, San Francisco beat Cleveland Browns, 56-28; Pittsburgh beat Detroit, 14-7; Los Angeles Rams overwhelmed the Chicago Bears, 31-6, and the Philadelphia Eagles humbled the Chicago Cardinals, 28-3—all surprising results to some degree.

Look at those margins! It was not merely a weekend of upsets but in every instance, the margin was tremendous.

It was so quiet in Gladstone this morning that you could hear a pin drop on Delta avenue. In fact, it was almost as quiet there as it was in Flatbush after the Yankees humbled the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-6, to win the World Series in five games yesterday.

Gladstone, sporting four consecutive triumphs by convincing margins was a solid favorite to beat Newberry in Gladstone Saturday afternoon. And that's taking into consideration the fact that Newberry was undefeated and has a potent eleven.

But it was one of those things; a letdown, perhaps. At any rate, Newberry jumped into the driver's seat early and stayed there to win by 26-6, Gladstone's first defeat and a win for Newberry that all but sews up the Great Lakes championship.

Tom Taylor, Newberry center, had one of those days a lineman never forgets. . . . Very few ever have as much fun as Taylor had against Gladstone Saturday. . . . Tom raced into the end zone and fell on a bad pass from the Gladstone center for Newberry's first touchdown. . . . And then after the backs had done their chores, Taylor scored Newberry's last touchdown of the game, a six-point capper in the last quarter, by intercepting a pass and running 40 yards to score.

By narrower margins but upsets, nevertheless, in the U. P. were Hancock over Ontonagon, Soo over Marquette, Ironwood over Ashland (after Ashland had beat Hurley and Hurley had beat Ironwood by 40-7) and, if you'll pardon us saying so, Manistique over Munising.

Swami is not complaining, understand. Just merely pointing out that atmospheric conditions over the weekend were conducive to upsets. Our seance Saturday proved this, and our seismograph picked up that Newberry tremor in Gladstone.

All in all, Swami's percentage held up pretty well. It's still a respectable .729. We had 10 of 15 correct to go with 10x14, 10x16 and 13x14 on previous forecasts for 43-59. We were right on Ishpeming over Calumet, Escanaba over Kingsford, Menominee over Iron Mountain, Marquette over Antigo, Stephenson over Niagara, Stambaugh over Iron River, L'Anse over Crystal Falls, Wakefield over Bessemer, Negaunee over Houghton and Norway over St. Joseph's. In addition to the Escanaba score, several of our margins were very close as well.

But, brother, is the carrier pigeon from the Copper Country complaining about the hot letters he brought us this morning after Hancock upset Ontonagon, 13-1?

P. S. Just for the record, Swami did choke on his tomato juice on that one.

(Signed) Swami.

NL Set Marks In Series But AL Is Winner

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Oct. 10 (P)—Before yesterday's final world series game, Billy Evans, the Detroit Tigers' general manager, was haunting the Yankee dugout getting signatures on a baseball.

"It's for a friend in Detroit," he explained. "I have to get Tommy Henrich especially. . . . Tommy's my boy, you know. I dug him up and had him in Cleveland for a couple of years. . . . Someone suggested that Evans wouldn't mind having Henrich in Detroit. . . . I sure wouldn't," Billy agreed. "With him on first we'd have a real good ball club."

A Slight Difference

Earl Hilligan and Charley Segar, the publicity men (or service bureau managers in polite language) of the two leagues, met at Ebbets field yesterday. . . . Hilligan was bemoaning the fact that when he left his regular seat to work on the financial statement Saturday the Yanks were leading, 6-0. Dodger basehits kept ringing in his ears while he worked until he finally gave up and returned to his seat. . . . "That reminds me of a strange thing about this series," Segar told him. "Our league is setting all the records; you're winning all the ball games."

Dugout Daguerrotypes

A group of Brooklyn players taking part in a "good neighbor" broadcast to Puerto Rico from the field. Maybe they can't play as good baseball as the Yanks but they can speak better Spanish. . . . Commissioner Happy Chandler and Peeewe Reese engaging in a long conversation on the steps of the Dodger dugout—just a couple of Kentucky boys getting together. . . . The commissioner removing his hat and standing at attention (with a slight grin) as the organist played "Kentucky Home." . . . And a reporter who recalled some of Happy's sentimental remarks about the Kentucky derby whispering: "The horses are coming onto the track."

Dawson Resigns By Request After His Bills Lose To Dons

Los Angeles, Oct. 10 (P)—Lowell P. "Red" Dawson, coach of the All-America Conference Buffalo Bills, was out of a job today in the wake of the Bills' 42-28 defeat Sunday by the Angeles Dons.

Bills' team owner James F. Breuil said he "requested and accepted" Dawson's resignation here.

At the same time, the Bills' bossman named Bill Line coach Clem Crowe to the head coaching post.

Crowe, Notre Dame captain in 1925 under Knute Rockne, has been line coach for four years.

Top Navy Brass Pulls Kamekaze

Crommelin Acted For His Superiors

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York.—One thing the Navy learned from the Japs in the Pacific was the value of the suicide pilot, or kamekaze, in destroying an objective when formal means fail. The admission by Capt. John G. Crommelin that he was responsible for leaking the contents of personal, restricted letters to the Press makes it pretty clear that Capt. Crommelin is no hothead, speaking only for himself.

When Crommelin popped off last month that navy was being "nibbled to death" in the Pentagon, that might have passed as an irresponsible statement by an individual officer and was formally dismissed as such. But Crommelin's startling behavior in releasing Vice Adm. Gerald Bogan's personal letter to Navy Secretary Francis Mathews suddenly makes all clear. The bigger brass, despairing of more subtle attacks on unification and the air force, desperately chose themselves a kamekaze.

Had Big Guns' Support

It is almost mandatory that Crommelin had the support of the navy big guns, and that his publicizing of Adm. Bogan's letter was the death-dive in a last-ditch gamble. Having gotten away, more or less, with his pop-off of last month, Capt. Crommelin would be very carefully minding his behavior now unless he was part of a careful plot, with plenty of backing at the top.

The captain, now suspended, says he didn't steal the letters, which means he got them with the knowledge of Admirals Denfeld and Radford. Through whose hands they passed for formal endorsement. He says he first withheld his identity only to stage off a diversionary interest in himself, thereby robbing the letters of public impact. Capt. Crommelin now emerges less as a lone eagle in the Billy Mitchell tradition than the unofficial spokesman for his superiors. If Crommelin is suspended in House arrest it would seem logical also to suspend the admirals who backed him in the scheme.

Whatever the right behind navy arguments against the air force, to date the admirals have heaped no great credit on themselves in their methods of bringing their beef to public attention. They came out badly on the anonymous letter charging collusion in the air force with airplane manufacturers. They looked a little ridiculous in staging their own investigation of Cedric Worth's alleged authorship of the accusations, and seemed even sillier when they attempted to draw air force boss Stuart Symington into testimony before their own court of inquiry.

Lots of Sniping

For the last four years there has been nothing but steady sniping between the services, hot and high-powered press relations combat, and deliberate sabotage of each other's efforts toward eminence. President Truman, the late Jim Forrestal and the present Chief of Defense, Louis Johnson, have attempted to stop the secret squabbles and open rebellions, and all have failed.

It seems to me that this should be the final show-down, with most of the dirty linen on both sides aired and publicly noted. Adjustments toward the right should be made, punishments meted, if necessary, and a final admonition delivered to the boys to quit wasting their strength fighting each other.

It may be that the navy's morale has capsize as a result of the victories scored by the air force in their wrestle for power, but I cannot see how it has been lifted very high by the recent activities of its senior officers. As a former navy man I find very little to boast of in the carryings-on of the dignified senior service.

I note that the Congressional hearings are announced as closed, which means the public will hear only leaks and what Chairman Vinson wishes to disclose. I cannot see how much actual security is jeopardized here, unless the brave bucks start to swapping recipes for atom bombs or some such, and I think the public has a right to be in on the row.

We are the people who have to fight these wars for the admirals and generals, and pay for them both before and after. There's been enough cover-up already, and this is one I want to let the light shine on.
